Our City comment & discussion by THOMAS D. WATSON

The Passing of Jack Huntley Leaves Glendale a Heritage of His Ideals of Service

IN the passing of Jack Huntley, Glendale loses not only one of her most influential citizens but a man whose life can well be held up as a model for our growing generation to pattern after.

Those who were best acquainted with him know of the many good deeds he did continually—not for the purpose of getting his name before the public, for his acts were done in his own quiet way. So today Glendale mourns the loss of this good citizen, but the good works he has done will continue to be manifested among us.

FOR the good such a man does lives after him and in the development of a community his ideals become principles of action, although the very name and memory of the man may have passed from the ken of all but those of today in Glendale who knew, appreciated and loved him so.

ONE of the benefits that will be of lasting duration of which Jack had a big part in putting over is the permanent Boy Scout camp at Haynes Canyon. As chairman of the Rotary club committee he was tireless in his efforts.

THIS camp will be used by all the Boy Scouts of the Verdugo Hills council, which takes in the cities of Glendale, Eagle Rock and Burbank, and the boys of these towns will always remember Jack Huntley as being instrumental in providing the camp for them.

IN an interview today, Postmaster Jackson of Glendale advised that he was to have a conference with First Assistant Postmaster General John H. Bartlett and Congressman Lineberger in San Francisco some time this week regarding the local postoffice situation. We do not know if our postmaster is making any effort to secure a federal building. He has not taken the citizens into his confidence if he is.

THE postoffice situation is of interest to us all and all influence we have should be used to convince the government that our business merits the expenditure of the necessary governmental funds to erect a suitable building.

The proper time to have brought this influence to bear would undoubtedly have been when Mr. Bartlett was in Glendale, but as this opportunity was overlooked, some other means will be necessary if we are to procure a federal building.

WE understand that Secretary Sanders of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce is to attend the postoffice conference in San Francisco. He may be brought into the conference with Mr. Bartlett. If the chamber appointed a committee to assist in this matter by going to San Francisco it would be money well spent. Let us not let this opportunity go by, for if the postoffice moves into larger rented quarters it may be years before the matter can be again brought up with any chance of fulfillment.

PENDROY OFFERS FINE FURNITURE IN BIG SALE

Summer months form the logical season for furniture sales. This fact is evidenced on every hand, for practically every furniture store in Glendale is making special offers for the summer months.

An attractive array of specials in house furnishings and sets of furniture is to be found at Pendroy's furniture department, where a sale is now in progress. For the living room, a lovely three-piece overstuffed set is offered, suitable for the spacious room. A high grade dining room set is included in the sale goods. Inviting breakfast room suites and walnut finished bed room suites, are among the sets which are attractively priced.

In addition there are grass rugs and Wilton rugs at various sizes and prices, davenport end tables, metal floor lamp standards and other values in large numbers. Realizing that the summer time is buying time in furniture these offers are all attractively priced and should interest a large number of buyers.

Board of Public Utilities of Los Angeles Approves Permit

NO DELAY EXPECTED

Means Victory for East Side Forces in Big Improvement

The Board of Public Utilities of Los Angeles placed its stamp of approval Monday on the granting of a franchise to the Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railway company for the establishment of a freight interchange track on the company's line between Casador and Division streets, Los Angeles. Only one more step is necessary for the granting of this franchise and that is its passage by the city council of Los Angeles. No trouble is anticipated in connection with the council's actions, however, according to P. L. Hatch, general manager of the Glendale-Montrose company.

The granting of this franchise means much to the people of Glendale, as it will result in the electrification of the Glendale avenue line. The two companies interested in this improvement have been held up on account of the time necessary for the unwinding of the legal and other tape in Los Angeles, but now that this has about all taken place it is believed that there will be real action within a short time.

At the hearing before the Board of Public Utilities Monday the Los Angeles and Salt Lake company was represented by Attorney Halstead, chief council, and Charles Adams, head of the right-of-way department. The Glendale-Montrose Railway company was represented by C. L. McFarland, attorney; Secretary Val Harrampe and General Manager P. L. Hatch.

LOCAL REALTORS TO MEET TONIGHT AT THE C. OF C.

A special program has been arranged for 7:30 this evening in the Chamber of Commerce reception room for the salesmen of all of the local real estate offices who are working under the multiple listing system.

As between forty and fifty of the most active realtors in Glendale are working under the system, and the program has been most carefully arranged by the multiple listing committee of the Glendale board, much interest is manifested by local salesmen.

After the program a general discussion of the system and its benefits will follow. This will be led by men who have made an extensive study of the multiple listing system.

A. A. BAINES IS CHARGED WITH HAVING BOOZE

Police Allege Finding of Nineteen Pints in His Home

A. A. Baines of 1140 East Chestnut street was arrested at 12:50 Monday afternoon by Chief of Police Fraser. He is charged with having intoxicating liquor in his possession, according to local police records. The records allege that nineteen pint bottles of liquor were found at the Baines residence.

The arraignment of Baines took place before Judge Lowe at 10 o'clock this morning. The preliminary hearing of the case was set for 10 o'clock next Monday morning. Mr. Baines was released on $500 bail, pending his re-appearance at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

FEDERAL BUILDING POSSIBLE

Jackson to Have Conference With Asst. Postmaster General

BIDS ABOUT TO CLOSE

Must Be Sent to San Francisco Before July 5 for Consideration

The delegation from Glendale which will attend the postoffice conference at San Francisco leave Wednesday. It will include Postmaster Jackson, Assistant Postmaster Hallett, Secretary Sanders of the chamber of commerce.

Postmaster Jackson is mysterious about his hopes for Glendale's future in the postoffice line and intimated that a federal building is a possibility. He said he was to have a conference in San Francisco with First Assistant Postmaster General John H. Bartlett and Congressman Lineberger, who inspected the Glendale office last Friday.

The bids for rented quarters for the postoffice close July 5. They must be sent direct to San Francisco, where they will be opened. Postmaster Jackson professed entire ignorance concerning the possible or probable location of the office.

PASADENA ELKS WORK OVER NEW MEMBERS

Initiatory Class of Ten Are Put Through Its Paces

Members of the Pasadena lodge of Elks, together with the Glee club and band, invaded the domain of the Glendale Elks last night and took charge of the initiatory work for a class of ten new members. James Apffel, exalted ruler of the Glendale lodge, was in charge of the early part of the meeting, later turning it over to Exalted Ruler Hal Reynolds and his corps of officers from Pasadena.

The candidats for initiation included nine for the Glendale lodge and one for Morgan City, Louisiana, lodge, as follows: Louis Weill, Peter H. Muller, T. J. Fambrough, Frederick J. Kelley and Dr. Clark S. Tuomy of Glendale, John F. Schellberg of University City, Roger W. Gammon and Albert J. Mueller of Van Nuys, James E. Mason of Burbank and Drew Stanfield of Morgan City.

The glee club of the Pasadena lodge made its second public appearance last night and put on some splendid selections, as did also the Pasadena Elks band, which was thoroughly appreciated by the 450 members and visitors present.

After the business session the members adjourned to the banquet room, where a lunch was served and entertainment put on.

RECKLESS DRIVING CHARGED

Frank Pratto, 434 Cottage Home street, Los Angeles, was arrested at 10:15 o'clock Monday night at the corner of Sonora and San Fernando, Glendale, by Officers Schilling and Hedrick, the charge against him being reckless driving, according to the police department.

Pratto was arraigned before Judge Lowe at 10:10 o'clock this morning and his preliminary hearing was set for July 10. His bail was fixed at $300.

Chamber of Commerce Passes Resolution on Death of Jack Huntley

IN MEMORIAM

Whereas, through the Providence of Almighty God, our beloved friend and neighbor, John G. Huntley, has been removed from our midst; and,

Whereas, his death is a common sorrow to us all; and,

Whereas, we, the board of directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, will miss him in the daily intercourse of life; therefore,

Be it resolved, that we, the undersigned, do extend to his sorrowing wife, Mrs. Huntley, and all the direct members of his family and all friends, who alike grieve over this loss, our sincere and heartfelt sympathy in this, their time of bereavement.

Be it further resolved, that this board of directors stands ready at all times to render every service possible to this stricken family.

Furthermore, be it resolved, that a copy of this resolution be sent to Mrs. Huntley as an expression of our sorrow and sympathy and friendly devotion.

We loved him and he is gone. Let us emulate the many splendid virtues of his life.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS,
THE GLENDALE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

MRS. ELLA W. RICHARDSON ENTERS FIGHT FOR S. P. DEPOT SITE IMPROVEMENT

Daughter of Pioneer Who Gave Location to Railroad, Would Have Depot Remain and Street Opened Through to Brand

DISCUSSES TITLES TO RAILROAD PROPERTY

Original Idea Was to Locate Station as Close to Los Feliz Road as Possible, in View of the Traffic on That Highway

New light was shed on the Southern Pacific depot controversy by Mrs. Ella Richardson, pioneer daughter of Glendale, in a communication to the Glendale Daily Press, who advocates the retention of the depot at its present location. Since she is the daughter of the original owner of the land on which the depot now stands, she speaks with particular authority. The communication follows:

"Dear Friends of Glendale:

"The 16 acres of land, on part of which the Southern Pacific depot now stands, was presented to that company by my husband's father. This land was carefully selected as being the most suitable for the purpose, and in addition, land enough to create Railroad street, which is the direct road from Los Feliz road to the depot site, was given to the city. For even then, nearly 35 years ago, it was recognized that the main highway of traffic, from the mountains to the sea, would be Los Feliz road, which is the direct road from the break in the hills at Colorado street bridge, Pasadena, to the break in next line of hills, at Griffith Park bridge. So I cannot understand why any plan to move the depot further from Los Feliz road than it is now, could be considered, or advocated by any one working for the interests of the community, especially as there is room for several depots of the size proposed on the land given to the railroad by my father for depot purposes exclusively.

"The Southern Pacific depot did not cost the railroad company one cent. It was paid for by the citizens of Glendale. Many of whom helped pay for the present depot, are fighting to have the new depot where the depot always has been, and must be in future, if it is to be for the benefit of the public, and not for private interests.

A curious feature of the depot controversy, and one that may be of the utmost importance later, is the clause in the deed my father gave the railroad company, which reads as follows:

"'The above described premises are to be used for depot and railroad purposes by said party of the second part. Together with all and singular the tenements and hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging or in anywise appertaining and the reversion and reversions remainder and remainders, rents, issues and profits thereof; to have and to hold all and singular the said premises together with the appurtenances unto the said party of the second part and to its successors and assigns forever.'

"Lawyers tell me that this old style wording of the deed was intended to forever preclude the leasing of this property for any commercial purposes, to force its use as railroad property absolutely, and would be so construed in the courts today. And if it were so construed, the present site of the lumber yard on the property now would become the property of the Richardson heirs. But I take it for granted the officials of the railroad are high-minded men, as I have always found them to be, and that no rent is being paid for this property at present, valuable though it may be.

"I did not interest myself in this matter, while the question involved was, on its surface, apparently the mere question of locating the depot a few hundred feet away from its present location. It was only when I realized that the present scheme of removing the depot from its present location was intended to shut the public out of Railroad street, which is the "front door" of the depot in its present location, and where all the stages for dozens of towns around would deliver passengers for the new depot, that I felt it my duty to go on record as being for the interests of the people of Glendale in this matter, first, last and all the time; though I might have more to gain if the railroad company leased this depot land to a lumber company, than any other person in Glendale.

"I most heartily approve of the plan to change the name of Railroad street to Depot street, opening from Brand to Los Feliz and making the entrance to the depot a fitting "front door" to Glendale's new railroad depot. With 30,000 automobiles a day passing there, and proper advertising of the time to be saved by Glendale depot service, this would very soon make our Glendale depot second only to that in Los Angeles. Also, the suggestion of changing the name of Eulalia street (named after my daughter) Mrs. Eulalia R. Mitchell, which is really a continuation of Central avenue to the depot, to Central avenue, and improving it with lights, at no expense to the city, is a very good idea.

"My property interests in Glendale are so scattered that my personal interests are entirely secondary in this depot matter to my interest in the welfare of Glendale. Meanwhile I suggest Railroad street, in its present condition, be visited by any resident of Glendale who has doubts as to where the new depot should be located."

MANY MOURN AT GRAVE OF J. G. HUNTLEY

Eloquent Floral Tributes Paid to Beloved Citizen

E. E. FORD OFFICIATES

All Glendale Represented at Little Church of the Flowers

A pure white casket, laden with the silent eloquent floral tributes from the many who mourn John G. Huntley, a solemn and subdued silence pervading the Little Church of the Flowers where Rotarians, Masons, members of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, and those who knew Jack Huntley simply as a friend had assembled to do honor to his memory, over all, the voice of Reverend E. E. Ford, repeating in tones calm and clear, the verses of scripture and poetry that have served during ages past, to comfort the bereaved—such were the last rites performed at 11 o'clock this morning at Forest Lawn, over the body of John G. Huntley, whose death resulted from a serious injury incurred when he fell from his horse's back two weeks ago.

The Little Church of the Flowers was a bower of magnificent floral tributes, and at the altar floral pieces from the Unity Chapter Masons and the Glendale Rotary club held places of prominence. Rev. E. E. Ford read a short passage of scripture, then paused, and from an unseen portion of the room came the strains of the organ pealing forth "Lead Kindly Light," and the sound of a clear soprano bringing the message of this immortal song. Mrs. Frank Arnold sang, accompanied by Mrs. L. N. Hagood.

Resuming his address Rev. Ford then solemnly stated: "For seventeen years John G. Huntley lived life with you here. It was a life that speaks now in tones so loud as to silence any eulogy of man. His life speaking to us today makes our lives sweeter, better and truer, because God lent John Huntley to us. We have walked the trail with him and know him, and have learned the great lessons of life from him."

Reverend Ford then repeated the Twenty-third Psalm and invited the congregation to join with him in repeating the Lord's Prayer. He then repeated "When I Cross the Bar," and in closing said, "The Great Commander called to John Huntley, saying, 'You have been on picket duty, where there have been great storms, and you have never flinched. Come to headquarters.'"

Mrs. Arnold again sang, again in concealment, "No Night There." Following this number, which was received in profound silence, those who mourned John Huntley were invited to look their last upon the deceased, and the entire audience filed past with heads bowed, gathering in groups about the lawn, while the tones of the organ swelled in a solemn sacred march.

The casket was then carried from the church, Charles Toll, E. U. Emery, Dave Gregg, C. D. Lusby, Alfred Priest and Dan Campbell acting as pall bearers, and Albert Pearce, honorary pall bearer, Rev. E. E. Ford leading the way down an aisle formed by Rotarians, who took their places on either side of the walk upon leaving the church.

The widow of John Huntley, attired entirely in white, heavily veiled and silently weeping, accompanied by members of the family, followed the hearse in a closed machine. At the family plot, located on one of the sunny slopes at Forest Lawn, the flowers were placed about the grave, and pall bearers brought the casket to rest in the center of a semi-circle formed by Rotarians who preceded the hearse in the procession. Rev. Ford, with head bowed, pronounced the benediction. The grief stricken widow, who had been conducted to the scene, then gazed the last upon her late husband, and those who had come to pay honors to John G. Huntley, and showed sympathy for his survivors, moved slowly away.

Mrs. Huntley herself had arranged the funeral ceremony, details of which were managed by the Jewel City Undertaking company.

AMERICAN LEGION TEAM WINS GAME

Monday night the baseball team of the local American Legion Post again distinguished itself on the high school field, winning from the team of the First Methodist church with a score of 12 to 5.

Tonight the deferred game between the Christian church team and the Standard Oil twirlers will take place.

Interest in the series is increasing and teams are beginning to ask for their relative standing. The schedule will last until August and the team making the highest total score will be awarded the silver cup put up by J. C. Smith of the Standard Oil company, this city.

MONTROSE LINE IS READY TO START ROAD

Await Only Final Permit From Los Angeles to Start Glendale Line

By ALBERT MARPLE

Both the Los Angeles & Salt Lake Railway company and the Glendale-Montrose Railway company are ready to "go," so far as the construction work on the electrification of the Glendale line is concerned.

Just as soon as final word is received from the Los Angeles council the Los Angeles & Salt Lake company will begin preliminary work with regard to the survey for the new line, which survey will probably start within ten days after the decision of the Los Angeles council.

Actual work by this company on the electrification of the line will start, probably, within 60 days, and this company's part of the work will be completed before the rolling stock has been secured.

The Salt Lake company's part of the work will consist of the erection of the poles and the stretching of the wires, as well as the realigning of the tracks and the bonding of the rails. This work will consume about 90 days, and will cost the company about $125,000.

The part of the work to be done by the Glendale-Montrose company will consist in the construction of the sub-station and the installing of the machinery at that place, which work will be done at a cost of about $35,000.

An electric freight locomotive will be purchased by this company at a cost of something like $30,000, as well as four electric passenger cars, each of which will seat 53 people. These cars will cost about $12,000 each. If these are found to be insufficient to handle the patronage of the line, more cars will be provided, according to General Manager P. L. Hatch.

The purchase of these cars will be the slow part of the completion of this work, as it will take at least six months to land them in Glendale. Mr. Hatch stated this morning that if no unforeseen obstacles arise, the line should be in operation by New Year's day.

The Glendale-Montrose company expects to furnish a 20-minute service during the heavy load hours, which will be from 6 to 8:30 o'clock in the morning and from 4:30 to 7 at night, with 30-minute service at other hours.

There will be three passing points on this line which, with the exception of these points, will be a single track line. One of these passing tracks will be located between Maple and Windsor, another just south of the Forest Lawn cemetery and the third between Casador and Division streets. The terminus of the line will be at Glassell park, where it will connect with the Los Angeles Railway company.

The complete fare to Los Angeles from anywhere in Glendale south of Monterey road over this line and the yellow car will be 15 cents, this being 10 cents over this line and 5 cents on the yellow car. This will include transfers to any part of Los Angeles.

A family book containing 30 rides and good for 90 days will be sold for $1.50, which will bring the rides on the Glendale avenue line down to 5 cents, or 10 cents all the way to Los Angeles, with transfer privileges. This book may be used by all the members of the family.

EPISCOPALIANS TO CONSIDER EXPANSION

Parish Meeting Called to Discuss Plans of Church

The impulse for expansion has struck St. Mark's church and a special parish meeting and dinner has been called for Wednesday night at 6:30 in the parish hall to consider plans. Whether they will take the form of recommendations to erect a new church, or to enlarge the present one, will depend upon the character of the discussion that takes place.

This parish has one of the finest sites in the city at the corner of Harvard and Louise in the midst of a colony of churches, and a very valuable piece of ground. It is expected every member of the parish will be so interested that all will be on hand and ready to take part in the debate which is likely to be animated.

MERCHANTS PLAN GREAT BIG PICNIC

Merchants' Ass'n. Starts Movement to Close Stores August 15

PRIZES CALLED FOR

F. C. Butler of the Lewis Jewelry Co., Starts Outing Idea

A plan to have a picnic for all the merchants of Glendale on Wednesday, August 15, was adopted by members of the Glendale Merchants' association yesterday at the Glen Inn where a delightful luncheon was served.

This plan was forwarded with enthusiasm, and discussion as to the possibility of having every store in Glendale closed on that date followed. This would include every line of business and every store within the city limits.

F. C. Butler, manager of the Lewis Jewelry company, made a short talk, during which he announced the picnic of the Spanish-American war veterans at Verdugo Park, July 4. He stated that an effort is to be made to keep the army posts in Glendale, and that the membership at the present time is in the neighborhood of fifty.

One of the features of the picnic, Mr. Butler announced, is to be the country store, which will be conducted by two of the comrades. Mr. Butler also requested that all merchants who are willing to donate prizes to be given for the different events at the picnic communicate with him as soon as possible at the Lewis Jewelry company.

DISTINGUISHED FOLKS AT MUSIC CLUB BANQUET

Acceptance for Annual Event Are Being Rapidly Filed

Acceptances are coming in rapidly for the annual banquet of the Glendale Music club to be held at the Tuesday Afternoon club, Friday night, and these include people who are distinguished locally and otherwise.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Baird will represent Community Service; Mr. and Mrs. J. Herbert Smith, the Rotary club; Minneapolis musical circles will be represented by Mr. and Mrs. Emil Overhoffer, Mr. Overhoffer being director of the Minneapolis Orchestra, and this summer he is to direct the orchestra of the Hollywood bowl. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Marsh, at the head of the music department of Redlands University, will also be guests. Both are composers of note. Josephine Fernald, head of the Music School of Berkeley, will be present, also Mrs. J. Spencer Kelley, president of the Matinee Musical club of Los Angeles, and Mr. Kelley equally celebrated. Margaret Mitchell Morris, who interprets the songs of Charles Wakefield Cadman so beautifully, is coming with her husband and mother. Mr. Cadman will be accompanied by his mother. Mrs. John McGroarty will accompany her husband, and Mrs. Lubovisky and her distinguished husband, Calmon Lubovisky, the violinist. Mrs. L. Henion Robinson, who is one of the artists of the evening, will be with her husband, who is a composer of note. Mrs. Jessie McDonald Patterson and Mr. Patterson will be guests, also Mrs. Abner Ross, mother of Mrs. Gertrude Ross.

All those who have made reservations for tickets through Mrs. Helen Campbell, will receive them at the door.

Tickets will be on sale until noon tomorrow at the Glendale pharmacy, the Glendale book store, and the Glendale music store, and those desiring to attend the dinner and program who have not made reservations through Mrs. Campbell, can obtain tickets at any of the three places named. As long as they last they will be open to non-section members.

SWAPPING IS LIKE FISHING

Cast Your Swap Into the Column and See What You Get

BIG ARRAY OFFERED

Real Estate, Furniture, Cars, Jewelry and Everything

By JENNIE SWENSON

Day by day, in every way, the Glendale Daily Press swap column gets better and better. In fact, many of the things in that column are much too good to keep, and it's a safe prediction that they won't last long. They can't.

Did you see the swap column yesterday? There were enough swaps there to keep the bargain hunter busy a whole week taking stock of his possessions to see how many swaps he can make. Many of the ads in the swap column are hurry, hurry items, which at first glance are classified among those that are too good to keep.

For instance, make note of the furniture offered for sale, by the piece or as a whole set for three rooms. Here's a chance for someone to supply those articles of furniture which he might happen to lack, or for those who cannot buy a new set of furniture to acquire a whole set at a great saving.

Have you been wanting a good used car? The swap column is the place to look for it. These can be bought outright, or swapped. What have you?

There are real estate offers and clothing offers, and business offers, and jewelry offers. Which will you take? What have you to offer?

It's a great game. It's just like sitting by a pool and fishing, only not half so tedious. You bait your line with a good swap, and cast it into the column. Then, excitedly, you await results. You can't tell what sized member of the finny tribe is going to nibble, and therefore, until you feel a jerk at the line, there is a delightful uninterrupted sense of suspense. So it is in swapping. One never knows. It's a great game, and who can tell but what your little swapping tackle will bring in a whale.

CAMP ROYL KENT SIGNS 42 SCOUTS FOR OUTING

Patrol Leaders Leave Tomorrow for the Field Near Arrowhead

"Forty-two local boy scouts have already signed up for Camp Royl-Kent for the second ten-day period from June 30 to July 9," which is reserved exclusively for Glendale troops, according to a statement made this morning by Frank C. Ayars, chairman of the committee on camping.

"As the Glendale quota was set at fifty scouts this means that there are only eight more places left and I advise any scout who is planning on going with the Glendale division to make 'tracks' to his scoutmaster with the application for reservation," he added.

Fifteen patrol leaders and senior patrol leaders will leave Glendale at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning, June 27, for the patrol leaders' conference camp which will be held four days. This special camp is only open to patrol leaders and senior patrol leaders who have already signed up for one of the ten-day troop camps. The patrol leaders' conference camp was authorized by the camping committee for the purpose of equiping patrol leaders with a better perspective of their jobs and to instill in them a working, practical knowledge of the co-operative troop camps. All boys who have made the necessary qualifications for going on this encampment will meet at the District Scout Office, 103½ South Brand, not later than 5:45 o'clock tomorrow morning.

"The campsite is rapidly taking on the looks of a real first-class camp," declared Scout Executive Harold Benner, returned late yesterday afternoon from Camp Royl-Kent where he has been directing construction work by the pioneer squad.

A large Cadillac truck loaned for the occasion by the Bentley Lumber company left Glendale for Lake Arrowhead at about 3 a. m. last Saturday morning loaded with approximately 2000 pounds of camp equipment. H. Park Arnold of 635 North Jackson street drove the Cadillac and Roger Bentley of 715 North Central avenue was his right hand lieutenant. Scouts Floyd Craft and Cecil Periera also accompanied the truck.

According to Mr. Benner the camping committee have picked one of the best camp cooks available for this year's camp. He is known as M. Presser and hails from Holland. "Man, oh man! How that cook can cook!" enthusiastically declared Chief Benner.

Mr. Benner left Camp Royl-Kent Monday morning and "at that time," he states, "the camp was about half completed." The pioneer squad is working like beavers to get everything in readiness for the patrol leaders' conference camp which opens tomorrow.

DARING SNEAK THIEVES WORK IN THE STREET

A floor rug and a number of tools were stolen from the machine belonging to C. W. Cannon of San Fernando, while it was standing in front of the T. D. & L. theater at 8:40 Saturday night. Up to this time the missing articles have not been located.

KELLER PUPILS IN BIG DEMAND

The demand for pupils of the Pearl Keller school to appear in entertainments and as entertainers in the smart affairs of the day increases so that Mrs. Pearl Keller Brattain at times finds it almost impossible to meet all the demands made upon her for the services of her talented pupils.

At the elaborate military ball given at the Ambassador hotel, Los Angeles, a few days past, under the auspices of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War and the Big Sisters League, many of the personnel of the program were pupils of the Pearl Keller school. Eleanor Marek, Mary Alice Barton, Elizabeth Turner and Beatrice Turner acting as flower girls in military wedding, which was the main feature of the program. Dorothy Dutton, Cecilia Mae Fischer, Shirley Hitchcock, Glen Hitchcock, Helen Orr, Evelyn Hunt, Leona Hunt and Baby Betty Jane Stewart appeared in dances which constituted the greater remaining part of the program.

On Tuesday of this week pupils of the school will appear at the dinner given by the Business and Professional Woman's Club. On Wednesday night pupils of the Pearl Keller school will furnish the entertainment at the garden party given by the music section of the Tuesday Afternoon club at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rattray on Kenneth road. On Thursday at noon pupils of the school will furnish the program at a special social affair to be given at the Virginia hotel at Long Beach and on Thursday night the pupils will again appear at the Gamut club in Los Angeles on a program given for the ladies of the G. A. R.

MOTORISTS ARE TO HELP KEEP CLEAN U. S. BEAUTY SPOTS

LA CRESCENTA, June 26.—Ground was broken for the first school in Montrose yesterday, W. E. Luther of San Fernando, who secured the contract at $21,850, promises to have the building completed by the opening of the fall term of school. The building will contain three rooms, a library and kitchen, constructed of ornamental brick, tile roof, being a most attractive and substantial building designed by Architect Charles A. Cruth of La Crescenta.

New bids have been called for on the improvements to be made on the La Crescenta building, which will include the addition of two class rooms, repairing of building and improvements of grounds.

Pearl, Just Discovered, Valued at $60,000

[By Associated Press]

SYDNEY, N.S.W., June 26.—The discovery at Broome of a pearl of 102 grains, of double-button shape, is reported by the chief pearling inspector of West Australia.

The pearl, which is valued at $60,000, surpasses the famous "Star of the West," which weighed 101 grains and was valued at $50,000.

LIVE COLE CLASS QUARTET TO BE HEARD

MODERN WOODMEN TO HAVE BAND IN GLENDALE

Glendale lodge of Modern Woodmen is to have a band. Arrangements were made at the regular meeting of the lodge Monday night at the Knights of Pythias hall on South Brand boulevard and Park avenue for the organization of a band to be directed by Mr. White, who is director of the high school band.

Mr. White and a class of fourteen other candidates, eleven of whom were former members of various bands, were elected to membership at last night's meeting, which was in charge of Dr. Bion S. Warner. Band uniforms will be provided.

Members of the Glendale lodge of Modern Woodmen are planning to go to San Fernando on Monday night, when a class of twenty candidates from Glendale and others from the various lodges in the San Fernando valley will be initiated.

MRS. BENSON IS HOSTESS TO HER DAUGHTER'S CHUMS

LA CRESCENTA, June 26.—Mrs. C. Benson, 131 South Los Angeles avenue, entertained a group of young friends of her daughter, Virginia Benson, last Saturday afternoon, that day being little Miss Benson's sixth birthday anniversary. Games, refreshments and attractive favors were happy features of the afternoon and were enjoyed by Elma Ruth Keith, Lillian and Jennie Randolf, Jean Wooley, Christie Ann Potter, Betty Angier, Mary Alice Bickel, Violet Finlay, Ida Louise Townsend and Mary Alice Bickel.

What Our Folks Are Doing

Mrs. R. W. Kilgore of Visalia is the house guest for two months of Mrs. F. L. Hollingsworth of 462 Riverdale drive.

Mrs. Hoskins of Orange county is the guest of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Harwood of Cypress street.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Vandyke and daughter, Dorothy, of 406 West Lexington drive were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Beideman of Pasadena.

Mrs. C. J. Witherwax, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. A. M. Hogan, and niece, Mrs. F. J. Turck for the last three months, left Saturday for her home in Schenectady, New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Lockwood of 725 North Louise street and Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Holbrook of West Harvard street returned Sunday night from a three days' motor trip to El Pismo Beach.

W. C. Reith of 1101 East Wilson avenue sails today from New York City on a four month's business trip to Europe. Mr. Reith is going in the interests of the Southwest Portland Cement company, of which he is chief consulting engineer. He will meet the president of the company, Carl Leonardt, at Hamburg and from there they will go on an inspection tour of the cement plants throughout Europe. Mr. Reith will return to Glendale in October.

Mrs. Harry Rasmus, Jr., wife of the assistant pastor of the First Methodist church of this city, is this week entertaining her mother, Mrs. C. M. Bynum of Long Beach.

Mrs. F. L. Hollingsworth of 462 Riverdale drive entertained with a dinner party at her home Saturday night in celebration of the birthday anniversary of her son, Lewis E. Hollingsworth. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hollingsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Raley of Burbank, Mrs. Kilgore of Visalia, Mrs. Mae Rosenberg and Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Hollingsworth.

Miss Carol Duncan, who is a delegate from the City Teachers' club to the N. E. A. convention to be held in Oakland, left Sunday by boat for the bay city, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. John Cate, who is a kindergarten teacher in the city schools. After the convention the sisters will visit friends for about ten days and Miss Duncan will take up summer work at the state university at Berkeley. Mrs. Cate will come south to visit her sister, Mrs. Hillman, in Tulare, and will there be joined by Mr. Cate. Together they will take a camping outing in Sequoia National Park.

The Misses Eva and Beth Dockeray, teachers from Grand Rapids, Mich., accompanied by Mrs. Edna Dockeray and Mrs. Thuman, who have been visiting with relatives, Mrs. J. W. Headle and Mrs. Edith Dockeray, 723 South Louise, and also with G. A. and D. J. Dockeray of 115 West Windsor road, left Sunday for San Francisco, where they will attend the educational conference and later take up a six weeks' summer course at Berkeley.

Corinne Heacock of 709 Windsor road and several others from the Glendale Christian church are planning to attend the conference which opens July 2 at the Christian College on Vermont avenue.

Miss Laura Mae Syler of Douglas, Ariz., is the house guest for two weeks of Mrs. W. H. Boothby of 348 West Lexington drive, Glendale.

Cecil Torrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Torrey of 218 West California avenue, Glendale, is spending a week at the ranch home of his aunt, Mrs. Robert McAdam, at Palmdale.

Mrs. Joseph Wagner of 415 West Myrtle street, Glendale, has as her house guest for several weeks her niece, Miss Virginia Bills, from Oakland. Mrs. J. Bills, who accompanied her daughter here from the northern city, returned home Friday, after a ten days' visit here.

R. T. Burr of 1123 Campbell street, Glendale, who has been planning a transcontinental trip for some time, decided to make it a graduation treat for his son, Charles, and his daughter Genevieve, and the three are now enroute to Portland, Seattle and Vancouver. From there they will go east via the Canadian Pacific, making sight-seeing stop-overs, one of which will be Niagara Falls. From New York City they will go south to Louisiana and Texas, where they will make short sojourns, and from there will return to California. They expect to be away about six weeks.

Ralph Van Hoorebeke of 1121 Viola street, Glendale, one of the graduates of Glendale high, who has distinguished himself as a pupil in the art department, plans to make interior decorating his future work. He will begin an advanced course at some art school next fall, but meanwhile has secured a position in the interior decorating department of the Bullock dry goods store, Los Angeles, where he will have congenial work during the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Brown of 332 West Cerritos avenue, Glendale, have returned from a delightful ten days' motor trip to the northern part of the state. They visited San Francisco, Oakland and Yosemite National park. Mr. Brown states that the roads north are in very good condition. Camp Curry at Yosemite is already crowded, having over 1400 visitors, Mr. Brown says. He was very much surprised at the light traffic during the rush hours on Market street, which is supposed to be the busy street of San Francisco.

Because of the very serious illness of Mrs. W. W. Timmons of 538 Windsor road, her sister who lived with her for years and who was married about four months ago, returned this week from the east. Mr. Timmons' two sons, William and Elmer Timmons, who live in Chicago, are also here. Mrs. Timmons underwent a serious operation at the Glendale sanitarium last week but is showing improvement which has led her physicians to hold out hopes of her recovery.

Goats from Chicago to Save Northern Babies

[By Associated Press]

CHICAGO, June 26.—The Grenfell mission in Labrador needs goats to supply milk to preserve infant life, and the herds of some Chicago millionaires are being assessed to meet the demand, Mrs. James A. Patten and Charles A. Stevens are among those who have contributed pure bred animals.

It has been said that the lives of 500,000 babies could be saved annually in the United States if the infants could have goats' milk, which comes nearest to mothers' milk. Goats' milk sells at about 40 cents a quart, and even at this price it is hard to get.

LODGES CLUBS – CHURCHES

MISS HUMBERT IS HOSTESS AT JUNE BRIDAL SHOWER

Miss Marjorie Humbert of 1729 Gardena, Glendale, was hostess yesterday afternoon at a delightful miscellaneous bridal shower for Mrs. Frank Creasey, nee Leona Hughes, of Long Beach. The guests were mainly school mates from the high school at Hobart, Oklahoma.

The table was appropriately decorated with a huge pink rose in the center, in which a Kewpie, daintily dressed in white satin, veil, and orange blossoms, typified the bride. Places were marked by tiny pink baskets with wedding bells hung from the handles, tied in white tulle. The afternon was spent at bunco. The Misses Elva and Hallie Thompson, of Monrovia, who have recently returned from a European trip, entertained the guests with interesting tales of their experiences while there. The hostess was assisted in serving by her niece, Miss Mildred Forsyth.

Those present were: Mrs. Frank Creasey, Mrs. James Morgan, Mrs. Vance Perry and Miss Myrtle Peterson, all of Long Beach; Miss Minnetta Seibert of Pasadena; Misses Hallie and Elva Thompson of Monrovia, and Marjorie Humbert.

MRS. CLEOPHAS ENTERTAINS FOR EMIL OBERHOFFER

Mrs. Ed. Cleophas of 337 North Central avenue is planning to entertain with a reception at her home Sunday afternoon in honor of Emil Oberhoffer. Mr. Oberhoffer is to conduct the orchestra at the Hollywood Bowl this summer and is a very distinguished musician. With the precedent established by the performances last year at the Bowl, this season looks very promising, according to Mrs. Cleophas, who is disposing of ticket books for the Tuesday Afternoon club. Already a number of Glendale people have secured their coupon books.

The concerts will begin July 10. There will be four concerts each week during the summer, and probably will be followed by a week of opera. For the convenience of those not wishing an entire book, Mrs. Cleophas will divide the tickets. As many of the coupons may be used at one time as desired. Further information may be secured by telephoning her at Glendale 1587-J.

REAL MOONLIGHT FETE IS PLAN OF RATTRAYS

Elaborate Program for the Music Section Garden Party

Preparations being made by the committees of the music section of the Tuesday Afternoon club for the garden party to be held Wednesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Rattray on Kenneth road indicate that this will be real festive occasion. Mrs. Warren Roberts, curator of the section, is general chairman in charge of arrangements, which promise to make this one of the most gala events of the kind ever held in Glendale.

Dancing, bridge, "500," fancy dance numbers by pupils of the Pearl Keller studio, and a fortune telling booth will be some of the attractions.

A large tennis court, inclosed with a high wire fence, will be used for the dance. The floor space is said to be larger than the ballroom of the Tuesday Afternoon club and will accommodate about 400. The tennis court will be rubber with soap chips and is said will equal in "slickness" that of a hardwood floor. Kelley's Shrine orchestra of eight pieces will furnish music for dancing. During the intermission favors will be distributed to the ladies. Festoons of red, white and blue crepe paper will be twined back and forth over the tennis court and over this network will be thrown serpentine papers.

From 8:30 o'clock until 9, a program will be given by pupils of the Pearl Keller studio. This will take place on the terraced lawn. Electric lights, covered with Japanese lanterns, will be strung over the lawn. Special spot lights will be thrown on the upper terrace, which will be used as a stage. Chairs will be placed on the lower terraces and driveway for the guests.

For those not caring to dance there will be tables arranged in the house for bridge and "500." Mrs. Helen I. Campbell will have charge of the card tables and Mrs. Sallie Campbell Braden will serve refreshments to the players. Mrs. Bine J. Smith will serve to the dancers. The refreshments will include home baked cakes and fruit punch. Mrs. Bert Woodard has promised a large beautifully decorated cake, for which she is noted, and this will be auctioned off during the evening.

Mrs. L. E. Gates will have charge of arrangements for the fortune telling tent. A professional fortune teller has been secured and will give readings for 25 cents. Admission tickets for the dance and card party are 50 cents each. As this is to be an informal or sport dance, a very large crowd is expected. The large list of patrons and patronesses assure this of being a very successful affair.

WOODS PUPILS TO DANCE AT THOMAS PARTY IN GARDEN

At the garden party to be held at the residence of Mrs. Seymour Thomas, La Crescenta, on Thursday afternoon, on behalf of the building fund of the new La Crescenta church, several pupils of the Woods' school of dancing and dramatic art will appear in an outdoor program. Rosina Brown will give a charming Japanese musical reading in blue Japanese costume Ruth Bender, in white sleighing costume, will dance Jingle Bells. Elizabeth Haviland, in glowing shades of pink and red, will give the dance of the French Hat. Joseph Taylor, in quaint Chinese costume of green and yellow, will present his Chinese song and dance in which he has scored so many successes. Evelyn Molz, in pretty pink, will appear in a fairy dance.

These clever children, with the addition of eight more, will appear next season at many functions under the name of Woods' Klever Kiddies.

NOTICE OF STREET WORK

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF GLENDALE, ON THE 17TH DAY OF MAY, 1923, DID, AT ITS MEETING ON SAID DAY, ADOPT RESOLUTION OF INTENTION NO. 1941, DECLARING AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. That the public interest and convenience require and it is the intention of the Council of the City of Glendale to order the following work and improvement to be done, to-wit:

First: That

from a line drawn twelve (12) feet westerly from and parallel to the easterly line of Adams Street and its extensions to the extensions of the westerly line of Sycamore Canon Road, and from the extensions of the easterly line of Sycamore Canon Road to a line drawn ten (10) feet westerly from and parallel to the northerly extension of the easterly line of that portion of Porter Street lying southerly of Windsor Road; also that from the extensions of the southerly lines of Windsor Road to the westerly extension of the northerly line of that portion of Garfield Avenue lying easterly of Porter Street; also that from a line drawn thirteen (13) feet easterly from and parallel to the easterly line of Sycamore Canon Road and its extensions to a line drawn twelve (12) feet easterly from and parallel to the westerly line of Verdugo Road and its extensions; also that from the extensions of the southerly line of Garfield Avenue to the extensions of the northerly lines of Acacia Avenue; also that from a line drawn from a point in the northerly line of Acacia Avenue twenty-seven (27) feet easterly and measured along the westerly extension of said northerly line from the southerly extension of the easterly line of Sycamore Canon Road to a point in the southerly line of Acacia Avenue twenty-four (24) feet easterly and measured along said southerly line and its westerly extension from the northerly extension of the easterly line of Sycamore Canon Road, to a line drawn twelve (12) feet easterly from and parallel to the westerly line of Verdugo Road and its extensions; including all street and alley intersections or terminations, be graded to the official line and grade heretofore established therefor, the same to be done in accordance with Plan No. 813, and Specifications for said work adopted by the Council of the City of Glendale and known as Specifications No. 36.

FISCHER STREET

Second: That a six (6) inch Class "B" cast iron water pipe be laid in Windsor Road, and across all intersecting and terminating streets and alleys along a line fifteen (15) feet northerly from and parallel to the southerly line of Windsor Road and its extensions, said pipe to extend from a line drawn twenty-seven (27) feet easterly from and parallel to the westerly line of Sycamore Canon Road and its extensions, to a line drawn fifteen (15) feet easterly from and parallel to the westery line of Porter Street and its extensions; also that a six (6) inch Class "B" cast iron water pipe be laid in Porter Street, in Garfield Avenue and across all intersecting and terminating streets and alleys, along a line fifteen (15) feet easterly from and parallel to the westerly line of Porter Street, said pipe to extend from a line drawn fifteen (15) feet northerly from and parallel to the southerly line of Windsor Road and its extensions to a line drawn fifteen (15) feet northerly from and parallel to the southerly line of Garfield Avenue and its extensions, said pipe to extend from the northerly extension of the easterly line of Sycamore Canon Road to a line drawn fifteen (15) feet easterly from and parallel to the westerly line of Porter Street and its southerly extension; also that a six (6) inch Class "B" cast iron water pipe be laid in Garfield Avenue, in Verdugo Road, and across all intersecting and terminating streets and alleys along a line drawn fifteen (15) feet northerly from and parallel to the southerly line of Garfield Avenue and its extensions, said pipe to extend from a line drawn fifteen (15) feet easterly from and parallel to the westerly line of Porter Street and its southerly extension to a line drawn seventeen (17) feet westerly from and parallel to the easterly line of Verdugo Road; also that a four (4) inch Class "B" cast iron water pipe be laid in Fischer Street, in Acacia Avenue, and across all intersecting and terminating streets and alleys along a line drawn fifteen (15) feet easterly from and parallel to the westerly line of Fischer Street and its extensions, said pipe to extend from a line drawn fifteen (15) feet northerly from and parallel to the southerly line of Garfield Avenue and its extensions, to a line drawn fifteen (15) feet northerly from and parallel to the southerly line of Acacia Avenue; also that a six (6) inch Class "B" cast iron water pipe be laid in Acacia Avenue, in Verdugo Road, and across all intersecting and terminating streets and alleys along a line drawn fifteen (15) feet northerly from and parallel to the southerly line of Acacia Avenue; also that a six (6) inch Class "B" cast iron water pipe be laid in Acacia Avenue, in Verdugo Road, and across all intersecting and terminating streets and alleys along a line drawn thirty-five (35) feet southerly from and parallel to the northerly line of Acacia Avenue, said pipe to extend from the southerly extension of the easterly line of Sycamore Canon Road to a line drawn seventeen (17) feet westerly from and parallel to the easterly line of Verdugo Road; also that a four (4) inch Class "B" cast iron water pipe be laid across Acacia Avenue, and in the termination of Hilda Avenue with Acacia Avenue, said pipe to extend from a point in the above described pipe line in Acacia Avenue forty-five (45) feet westerly from the intersection of a line drawn at right angles to the southerly line of Acacia Avenue at the southeasterly corner of Acacia Avenue and Hilda Avenue to its intersection with the easterly extension of the southerly line of that portion of Acacia Avenue lying west of Fischer Street, together with all connections, valves, fire hydrants, and appurtenances, all as shown on Plan No. 813W, said pipe and appurtenances to be used for fire protection and the distribution of the municipal water supply of the City of Glendale. Said pipe shall be laid in accordance with said Plan and between the points and on the lines designated thereon. Said pipe, connections, valves, fire hydrants, and appurtenances shall be constructed in accordance with the plans therefor designated as Plan No. 813W, No. 439, No. 448, and in accordance with Specifications for said work adopted by the Council of the City of Glendale and known as Specifications No. 42 for furnishing and laying cast iron water pipe in the City of Glendale; the top of the barrel of the pipe lines above described shall be uniformly three (3) feet below the top of the nearest curb lines on Windsor Road, Porter Street, Garfield Avenue, Fischer Street, and Acacia Avenue, as shown on Plan No. 813; also that galvanized iron service pipes of the sizes and at the locations as shown on Plan No. 813W, be laid in Fischer Street from the afore described pipe line in Fischer Street to a line drawn parallel to and twelve (12) inches westerly from the westerly curb line of Fischer Street, and from a line drawn parallel to and twelve (12) inches easterly from the easterly curb line of Fischer Street; also that galvanized iron service pipes of the sizes and at the locations shown on Plan No. 813W, be laid in Acacia Avenue from the aforedescribed pipe line in Acacia Avenue to a line drawn parallel to and twelve (12) inches northerly from the northerly curb line of Acacia Avenue and to a line drawn parallel to and twelve (12) inches southerly from the southerly curb line of Acacia Avenue; also that galvanized iron service pipes of the sizes and at the locations as shown on Plan No. 813W, be laid in Garfield Avenue from the aforedescribed pipe line in Garfield Avenue to a line drawn parallel to and twelve (12) inches northerly from the northerly curb line of Garfield Avenue and to a line drawn parallel to and twelve (12) inches southerly from the southerly curb line of Garfield Avenue; also that galvanized iron service pipes of the sizes and at the locations shown on said Plan No. 813W, be laid in Windsor Road from the aforedescribed pipe line in Windsor Road to a line drawn parallel to and twelve (12) inches southerly from the southerly curb line of Windsor Road. Said service pipes shall be laid in further accordance with said Specifications No. 42 and from the pipe lines in Fischer Street, Acacia Avenue, Garfield Avenue and Windsor Road, herein above described in a straight line to a depth of thirty (30) inches below the top of the curbs shown on Plan No. 813.

Third: That a cement curb of the class designated as Class "B" in the hereinafter referred to Specifications with curb returns at all intersecting or terminating streets and alleys, be constructed along lines fifteen (15) feet each side of the center line of Windsor Road from a line drawn twelve (12) feet westerly from and parallel to the easterly line of Adams Street and its extensions to the extensions of the westerly line of Sycamore Canon Road, and from the extensions of the easterly line of Sycamore Canon Road to a line drawn ten (10) feet easterly from and parallel to the westerly line of that portion of Porter Street lying southerly of Windsor Road and its northerly extension; also along lines fifteen (15) feet each side of the center line of Porter Street from the extensions of the southerly lines of Windsor Road to the extensions of the northerly line of Garfield Avenue; also along lines fifteen (15) feet each side of the center line of Garfield Avenue from a line drawn thirteen (13) feet easterly from and parallel to the easterly line of Sycamore Canon Road and its extensions to a line drawn twelve (12) feet easterly from and parallel to the westerly line of Verdugo Road and its extensions; also along a line fifteen (15) feet easterly from and parallel to the center line of Fischer Street from the extensions of the southerly line of Garfield Avenue to the extensions of the northerly lines of Acacia Avenue; also along lines ten (10) feet and forty (40) feet southerly from and parallel to the northerly line of Acacia Avenue from a line drawn from a point in the northerly line of Acacia Avenue twenty-seven (27) feet easterly and measured along the westerly extension of said northerly line from the southerly extension of the easterly line of Sycamore Canon Road to a point in the southerly line of Acacia Avenue twenty-four (24) feet easterly and measured along said southerly line and its westerly extension from the northerly extension of the easterly line of Sycamore Canon Road, to a line drawn twelve (12) feet easterly from and parallel to the westerly line of Verdugo Road and its extensions; except where curbs have already been constructed to the official line and grade. Said curbs shall be located and constructed in accordance with Plan No. 813 and Specifications therefor adopted by the Council of the City of Glendale and known as Specifications No. 31.

Fourth: That a cement gutter be constructed along the curbs to be constructed and the curbs and curb returns in place on Acacia Avenue from a line drawn from a point in the northerly line of Acacia Avenue twenty-seven (27) feet easterly and measured along the westerly extension of said northerly line from the southerly extension of the easterly line of Sycamore Canon Road to a point in the southerly line of Acacia Avenue twenty-four (24) feet easterly and measured along said southerly line and its westerly extension from the northerly extension of the easterly line of Sycamore Canon Road to a line drawn twelve (12) feet easterly from and parallel to the westerly line of Verdugo Road and its extensions. Said gutters shall be five (5) inches in thickness and two (2) feet in width, except that a gutter four (4) feet in width and five (5) inches thick be constructed across the intersections of Fischer Street and Hilda Avenue with Acacia Avenue, as shown on Plan No. 813. Said gutters shall be constructed in accordance with Plan No. 813, and Specifications for said work adopted by the Council of the City of Glendale and known as Specifications No. 31.

Fifth: That all of the roadway of Windsor Road between curb lines from a line drawn twelve (12) feet westerly from and parallel to the easterly line of Adams Street and its extensions to the extensions of the westerly line of Sycamore Canon Road, and from the extensions of the easterly line of Sycamore Canon Road to a line drawn ten (10) feet westerly from and parallel to the northerly extension of the easterly line of that portion of Porter Street lying southerly of Windsor Road; also that all of the roadway of Porter Street between curb lines between the extensions of the southerly line of Windsor Road to the extensions of the northerly lines of Garfield Avenue; also that all of the roadway of Garfield Avenue between curb lines from a line drawn thirteen (13) feet easterly from and parallel to the easterly line of Sycamore Canon Road and its extensions to a line drawn twelve (12) feet easterly from and parallel to the westerly line of Verdugo Road and its extensions; also that all of the roadway of Fischer Street between curb lines from the extensions of the southerly line of Garfield Avenue to the extensions of the northerly lines of Acacia Avenue; also that all of the roadway of Acacia Avenue between gutter lines from a line drawn from a point in the northerly line of Acacia Avenue twenty-seven (27) feet easterly and measured along the westerly extension of said northerly line from the southerly extension of the easterly line of Sycamore Canon Road to a point in the southerly line of Acacia Avenue twenty-four (24) feet easterly and measured along said southerly line and its westerly extension from the northerly extension of the easterly line of Sycamore Canon Road to a line drawn twelve (12) feet easterly from and parallel to the westerly line of Verdugo Road and its extensions; except where curbs have already been constructed to the official line and grade. Said curbs shall be located and constructed in accordance with Plan No. 813 and Specifications therefor adopted by the Council of the City of Glendale and known as Specifications No. 31.

Fourth: That a cement gutter be constructed along the curbs to be constructed and the curbs and curb returns in place on Acacia Avenue from a line drawn from a point in the northerly line of Acacia Avenue twenty-seven (27) feet easterly and measured along the westerly extension of said northerly line from the southerly extension of the easterly line of Sycamore Canon Road to a point in the southerly line of Acacia Avenue twenty-four (24) feet easterly and measured along said southerly line and its westerly extension from the northerly extension of the easterly line of Sycamore Canon Road to a line drawn twelve (12) feet easterly from and parallel to the westerly line of Verdugo Road and its extensions. Said gutters shall be five (5) inches in thickness and two (2) feet in width, except that a gutter four (4) feet in width and five (5) inches thick be constructed across the intersections of Fischer Street and Hilda Avenue with Acacia Avenue, as shown on Plan No. 813. Said gutters shall be constructed in accordance with Plan No. 813, and Specifications for said work adopted by the Council of the City of Glendale and known as Specifications No. 31.

Fifth: That all of the roadway of Windsor Road between curb lines from a line drawn twelve (12) feet westerly from and parallel to the easterly line of Adams Street and its extensions to the extensions of the westerly line of Sycamore Canon Road, and from the extensions of the easterly line of Sycamore Canon Road to a line drawn ten (10) feet westerly from and parallel to the northerly extension of the easterly line of that portion of Porter Street lying southerly of Windsor Road; also that all of the roadway of Porter Street between curb lines between the extensions of the southerly line of Windsor Road to the extensions of the northerly lines of Garfield Avenue; also that all of the roadway of Garfield Avenue between curb lines from a line drawn thirteen (13) feet easterly from and parallel to the easterly line of Sycamore Canon Road and its extensions to a line drawn twelve (12) feet easterly from and parallel to the westerly line of Verdugo Road and its extensions; also that all of the roadway of Fischer Street between curb lines from the extensions of the southerly line of Garfield Avenue to the extensions of the northerly lines of Acacia Avenue; also that all of the roadway of Acacia Avenue between gutter lines from a line drawn from a point in the northerly line of Acacia Avenue twenty-seven (27) feet easterly and measured along the westerly extension of said northerly line from the southerly extension of the easterly line of Sycamore Canon Road to a point in the southerly line of Acacia Avenue twenty-four (24) feet easterly and measured along said southerly line and its westerly extension from the northerly extension of the easterly line of Sycamore Canon Road,

COMMUNITY DANCE PLAN IS POPULAR

Informal Event at Tuesday Afternoon Club Thursday Night

NO ADMISSION FEE

Young Men and Women Asked to Register for Invitations

Indications show that there will be a large attendance at the informal dancing party to be given Thursday night, June 28, at the Tuesday Afternoon club ball room at 8:30 o'clock, under the auspices of the social recreation committee of Glendale Community Service. A five-piece orchestra is being engaged and good music is assured.

During the evening a few minutes will be given over to community singing led by J. A. Myers, talented tenor and a recent newcomer to Glendale from Cincinnati, Ohio, where he has been director of orchestras and choirs. Those who attend the party will be given an opportunity to enrol in various other activities that are being organized by Glendale Community Service.

There will be no admission charge. A silver collection will be taken during the evening. Young men or women who wish to be included on the invitation list should register at the Glendale Community Service office in the Citizens' building, 150 South Brand boulevard. Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson will be general chairman in charge of the dance.

EXAMINATION FOR RURAL CARRIERS

The United States civil service commission has announced an examination to be held at Glendale, Calif., on July 14, 1923, to fill the position of rural carrier at Glendale, and vacancies that may later occur on rural routes from that postoffice. The salary of a rural carrier on a standard daily wagon route of 24 miles is $1800 per annum with an additional $30 per mile per annum for each mile or major fraction thereof in excess of 24 miles. The salary of motor routes ranges from $2450 to $2650 per annum, according to length. Separate examinations for motor routes and wagon routes are no longer held. Appointments to both positions will be made from the same register. The examination will be open only to citizens who are actually domiciled in the territory of the postoffice where the vacancy exists and who meet the other requirements set forth in Form 1977. Both men and women, if qualified, may enter this examination, but appointing officers have the legal right to specify the sex desired in requesting certification of eligibles. Women will not be considered for rural carrier appointment unless they are the widows of U. S. soldiers, sailors, or marines, or the wives of U. S. soldiers, sailors, or marines who are physically disqualified for examination by reason of injuries received in the line of military duty. Form 1977 and application blanks may be obtained from the offices mentioned above or from the United States civil service commission at Washington, D. C. Applications should be forwarded to the commission at Washington, D. C., at the earliest practicable date.

Says Piles Heal Up and Disappear Forever

Seldom Fails to Give Absolute Relief from All Pain and Suffering. Guaranteed by All Good Druggists.

Many sufferers from Piles or Hemorrhoids have become despondent because they have been led to believe that their case was hopeless and that there was nothing in the world to help them.

To these people we say, "Go to your druggist and get an original box of MOAVA SUPPOSITORIES." One of these inserted into the rectum according to directions will be found to give immediate relief. They reach the source of the trouble and by their soothing, healing, antiseptic action first allay the pain and soreness and then by direct contact with the ulcers and piles cause them to heal up and disappear forever.

It's simply wonderful how speedily they act. Blessed relief often comes in two days. Even in cases that have steadily resisted all known treatments, marvelous results have been obtained. MOAVA is one of the wonderful discoveries of recent years and any sufferer from piles or hemorrhoids who is disappointed with its use can have their money refunded.

All druggists dispense MOAVA SUPPOSITORIES in the original box or can get it for you on short notice. Surely it is worth the little trouble to obtain even if you have to write the Moava Products Co., of Rochester, N. Y., for a 60-cent box, to be rid of piles forever.

Cat Mascot of S. S. President Harding Is Given Rating of "Milk Steward."

"Mr. Meyer" Getting Beauty Treatment.

New York There was a time when cats, large and black ones especially, when found on board a ship, were considered evil omens, to be promptly thrown overboard. But that superstition, believed in by sailors of by-gone days, no longer exists, and today many an ocean going vessel boasts, as its mascot and particular pride, a huge black cat, the pet of all on board.

The President Harding of the United States Lines, has a black cat which has the freedom of the ship, and which even has a title in keeping with the dignity of his station aboard the liner. This haughty feline, Mister Meyer by name, is known to the entire personnel of the big liner as "Milk Steward," and with the Chief Steward, reigns over the dining room during meal hours.

Mister Meyer was found one day a year ago aboard the President Harding when but a wee kitten. Incidentally, he refuses to answer to his last name alone, but will respond if called by his proper title. The kitten was found by the Master-at-Arms on the promenade deck of the liner, then at Bremen. The soft cries of the little creature sounded so much like "Meyer," that he was instantly christened that name by the dining room stewards to whom he was taken to be fed.

The warmed milk the kitten was given evidently struck just the right spot, and impressed on the juvenile mind the fact that the President Harding's galley and dining room were just the proper place for him to make his headquarters. The cat attached himself to the pantryman whose duty is to bring milk from the big refrigerators to the galley, and meowed for a drink every time a new container was brought in.

This habit of insisting by frantic mewings, that the can be opened, in order that he might have a taste of the contents poured into his saucer for inspection, speedily resulted in the "Mister" title being given Meyer, together with the rating of "Milk Steward."

When Mister Meyer got his sea legs he started an inspection of the President Harding which took him from bridge to engine room, but without his finding any section of the ship better to his liking than the galley and dining room. It is there that he spends most of his time either napping, when "off duty," or sitting dignifiedly erect during meal hours.

Mister Meyer is well aware that Captain Paul C. Grening is commander of the President Harding, and in apparent deference to the fact "stands by" the skipper's chair at the captain's table at dinner. Whenever a special dinner or party is served in the large dining salon Mister Meyer is sure to be found right on the job, intently watching the stewards at work, an expression on his wise face of seeming satisfaction at the excellence of the food provided and service rendered.

Though always in the dining room during meal hours Mister Meyer never has been known to get under any persons foot, to beg for food or to attempt to jump in a diner's lap. He is thoroughly reserved at such times and haughtily refuses to be petted. Social relations, he evidently considers, have their time and place, and they apparently are not to be suffered or enjoyed except in off duty hours.

Mister Meyer, who by now is known to hundreds who have traveled between New York and Bremen on the President Harding, likes to be petted, however, especially by pretty young women, and generally has a few favored friends on board on whom he calls on deck or in their staterooms. He is fond of good perfumes and scents, and does not object if some fair passenger to whom he has taken a fancy, allows him to sniff a delicately perfumed hankerchief or endeavors to dust his snowy white chest fur with powder. In fact he rather enjoys the experience and has been known to deliberately invite the latter attention by playing with a powder puff on some young woman's dressing table until his fur has been powdered to his heart's content.

BIG CIRCUS IS PLANNED FOR DISABLED

One of the most difficult balancing acts ever seen in Los Angeles will be put on by Noveletta each afternoon and evening during the circus and wild animal exposition to be held at Selig Zoo from June 23 to July 1, inclusive, by Los Angeles Post No. 1, Disabled Veterans of the World war.

Noveletta has been practicing three years to perfect his ball walking act, during which he plays a piano-accordion while balanced on the rolling sphere. Noveletta was the successor of Achillo Philion in his world famous tower spiral act, which he originated. While in service during the World war, Noveletta suffered a disability that caused him to give up the spiral feat. Since his recovery, he has been perfecting himself in the ball walking act.

Another daily attraction at the circus and wild animal exposition which is being given by the veterans to aid them in raising funds to pay off the mortgage on their club home at 246 South Hill street, will be little Shirley Widman, a juvenile toe dancer who has won high praise for her terpsichorean feats.

There also will be daily band concerts, dancing acts, musical features and animal performances. Col. W. N. Selig, proprietor of the zoo, will lend trained lions, tigers, leopards and bears for the jungle exhibitions. The Hollywood American Legion band of 45 pieces and the crack jazz orchestra of the Disabled Veterans of the World war will be heard in the concerts.

A card of ring events will be staged each Saturday during the nine days of the exposition. Newsboys will appear in the main event, a battle royal, and the boxing bouts will include clashes between Johnnie Dundee and Young Kilbane, Benny Leonard and Rocky Kansas, and young Dave Shade and young Mickey Walker.

The circus will be in charge of L. B. Bueter, business representative; H. W. Fowzer, show manager; H. B. Beaumont, sales manager, and Warren Grinnell, show treasurer.

'OVER THE HILLS' WONDER FILM AT THE GLENDALE

There must be something radically wrong with most motion pictures and something radically right with "Over the Hill," which is announced as the attraction at the Glendale theatre today and Wednesday.

Wiseacres of filmdom point to the fact that as soon as an established screen precedent bobs up, the William Fox picture reaches out and proceeds to smash it.

Most "big money" pictures of the day are pictures that often require a mob of several thousand "extras" to produce the necessary box office result. Costly sets of huge buildings are erected with months of labor, and sometimes destroyed in a few minutes, to get the proper box office punch.

Ladies with decorative titles that soothe the optic nerve are sometimes employed for the benefit of the boxoffice, and oftentimes the services of the highest salaried star in the business is needed to properly "register action" for the house treasury.

Now, consider from this point of view "Over the Hill." All there is of production extravagance is represented in six kids, a dog, a lazy father and a little old lady.

Again, you cannot interrupt the run of a successful attraction without inviting disaster. That is, you cannot take an attraction out of one house, where it is making money, and expect it to make equal money in another. It may do business, but there is generally a letdown in receipts. It simply can't be done, say the wiseacres. Yet "Over the Hill" played six Broadway theatres during its original New York engagement—moving five times. And it ran one solid year on Broadway. So much for that precedent.

Of late there has been such heavy patronage of film plays of a certain character that the wiseacres were not long in waking up to the fact that what the public really wanted was plays where the lure of sex was the dominant role. Quite so. But "Over the Hill" knocks that conviction to pieces.

William Fox not only has given the public a remarkable picture in "Over the Hill," but has caused the wiseacres to scratch their heads in amazement over the fate of some of their most cherished traditions.

A small girl of eleven entered a London toy shop.

"Have you, please," she asked, "a nice toy for a birthday present for my little sister? About eight pence?"

"Here," said the shopkeeper, "is a doll. It's really a shilling one, but you can have it for eight pence."

"Oh, no thank you, because if you're knocking four pence off everything, I'd loke one of those four-penny picture books."

GATEWAY THEATRE NEARS DAY OF ITS OPENING

"Work of completing the new Gateway theater on San Fernando road near Brand boulevard," says Roy G. Miller, "is going ahead rapidly. This new photoplay theater promises to be one of the most unique in Southern California, and will be equipped with every modern convenience to make it a high class place of entertainment for Glendale movie fans.

"A beautiful Robert Morton organ is being installed now. This instrument is one of the finest made by the big organ company in Van Nuys and when installed will represent alone an investment of over twenty thousand dollars. The seating capacity of the theater will be a thousand and the seating arrangement includes several hundred big, roomy loge seats of special design. Another new improvement at this house will be the installation of the first Crystal Glass screen ever put in a theater in Glendale. It is made of fine particles of glass so arranged on the surface that it eliminates all eye strain and gives a perfect picture from any angle of the theater auditorium.

"Other equipment of lateest design includes a huge ventilating system that will keep the house at an even temperature in the warmest weather; the most modern of projection equipment and the latest in lighting devices.

"The location of the new Gateway theater is one that gives ample room in the immediate vicinity for the parking of automobiles and the management has also provided a nursery for the little folks, where mother can watch them and the show at the same time.

"The opening date of this new place of amusement will be announced very soon."

The door of the postoffice opened and a man whom the postmistress did not recognize as one of the people living in the district walked in.

"I am expecting a registered letter to be left here for me," he announced as he approached the counter.

"What name, please?" asked the postmistress.

The man gave his name and the letter was produced, but the woman had some doubts as to whether she ought to give it up, as she had no means of identifying the caller.

Upon hearing this the stranger took a photograph from his pocket and handed it to the postmistress, remarking:

"I think that ought to satisfy you as to whom I am."

She looked long and earnestly at the portrait, and then said:

"Yes, that's you right enough. Here's your letter."

STAGE IS SET FOR REVUE AT LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, June 26.—The stage is set for Los Angeles' greatest production—the American Historical Revue and Motion Picture exposition.

Opening next Monday night, July 2, the contennial celebration of President Monroe's signing the famous document by his own name, will continue for five weeks, concluding August 4. To date, more than $1,000,000 has been expended to insure the success of the enterprise, and exhibits from practically every section of the state have found places in the Aztec City" that has sprung up at Exposition Park grounds.

The greatest of interest is being shown in this memorable celebration because the motion picture world has joined hands toward making it the success that it promises to be. Every notable film star of Hollywood, Los Angeles, Universal City and Culver City will spend allotted time at the exposition, and give the populace "a first hand glance" at them. Filmdom's own presentation, "The Location," showing the birth, growth and present stage of their industry, will be one of the outstanding features of the exposition.

Completion of the exterior decorations of the exposition grounds has entailed months of work on the part of landscape architects and a corps of more than 100 gardeners. Tropical and semi-tropical plants by the thousands have been imported from South and Central American countries, which have turned the grounds into a veritable flower garden. With the pueblo-type of building surrounded by tropical plants in full bloom, cactus, century plants, yuccas and Amazon ferns, no prettier setting has ever been conceived in this district, even by motion picture geniuses.

Chief among scores of entertainment features will be the tableaux and pageants staged under the supervision of the World Amusement Service association and the tremendous fireworks spectacles to be produced by Thearle-Duffield company.

Theodore Kosloff, noted Russian dancer, will present three historical ballets, portraying characteristic dances of all nations.

Emil de Recat, foremost producer of pageants, has been secured by the association to stage historical pageants on a larger scale than ever attempted in this state before. For three months de Recat has been putting his troupe through hehearsals. These pageants will include the portrayals of many significant historical events. Leading roles in these presentations will be taken by popular film stars.

"Montezuma, or the Last Days of the Aztec," is the title of one of the stupendous Thearle-Duffield pyrotechnic spectacles in which tons of fireworks will be used. The invasion and overthrow of the Imperial Aztec capitol by Hernando Cortez and his adventurous Spanish conquerors, will be graphically depicted in this educational and awe inspiring production.

These pageants and fireworks acts will be presented in Los Angeles' new million dollar coliseum, which seats 80,000 persons. A huge stage, 100x130 feet in size, has been erected in the center of the stadium for these inspiring and thrilling offerings.

Aside from the county exhibits, some of which have been in the process of preparation for some months, leading manufacturers of the state and nation will present for display their various products.

The sanction of President Harding, necessary in the minting of 300.000 Monroe Doctrine centennial half dollar pieces, shows that the exposition has received the applause of official Washington.

An Englishman and an American were motoring in the latter's new racing car (supposed to be the fastest in the world). When they had covered several miles at breakneck speed the Englishman suddenly remarked:

"What a lot of cemeteries we seem to be passing."

"Cemeteries!" exclaimed the Yankee, indignantly. "Those are milestones."

Willie wanted to play ball with the other boys, but his mother wanted him to carry in some wood—in fact, was quite decided that he should. Willie demurred, but mother prevailed. The final scene was stormy, and as Willie came out of the woodshed he danced with wrath.

"Darn, darn!" he cried. "If I had a moving picture of the way I feel I'd never get by the censors."

"THE EXCITERS" AND PREVIEW AT THE T. D. & L.

Society folk, wintering at Miami and the vicinity, turned out en-masse to witness the filming of thrilling scenes for the Paramount picture, "The Exciters," which is being shown at the T., D. & L. Theater tonight and Wednesday, and in which Bebe Daniels and Antonio Moreno are co-starred.

So interested in the novelty of picture production were the spectators that some even expressed a desire to appear in the picture as actors and actresses. One well known society woman loaned her motor boat for certain water shots in which Miss Daniels, as Ronnie Rand, the chief "exciter" at this fashionable resort, skims over the water at enormous speed. Later it was re-christened "Bebe," in honor of Miss Daniels.

There is much comedy in this picture, despite the fact that it is a melo-dramatic love story. The supporting cast under the direction of Maurice Campbell is especially competent.

Then there will be the preview, "Little Johnny Jones."

"So your mother wants to borrow my clothes-wringer, does she?" asked the neighbor woman.

"Yes," replied the child of the tenement, "'cause bruvver put Kitty's tail in it an' spoiled it all to pieces, 'n muvver says you're a horrid old woman if you don't; but don't tell I said so, 'n I think you are anyway, so there—where's your wringer?"

DON GILLIN SPINS COLD WEATHER YARNS

"Every now and then cold weather stories are appropos," says Donald R. Gillin, service manager of Bentley Lumber company, situated at 460 West Los Feliz road.

"They tell about the visitor who was shivering in the cold wind of Duluth, Minn., one July day. 'Don't you have any summer up here?' he asked a native. 'Sometimes,' was the reply, 'we have some summer, but generally we just have one month of poor sleighing.'

"A man from Buffalo was telling how cold it gets in the winter in his town. 'Cold in Buffalo?' snorted a hearer disgustedly, 'why you folks in Buffalo don't know what cold is. You ought to come to Winnipeg in February.' 'Is it very cold in Winnepeg?' he was asked. 'Is it?' he answered. 'Why we don't even use the snow in Winnepeg until it's two years old.'

"Some old proverb maker once said, 'A thing begun is half done.' There is a lot of truth in the statement. Speaking of cold stories, reminds me. You remember the breath-taking plunge into the icy water in the first swim of the year? It's the start that's the hardest.

"There used to be something of this difficulty in beginning a new home, but modern ideas of building and service have done away with all of this. It is a question of knowing where to go for the right kind of help.

"There is every assistance given to the prospective builder who comes to the office of the Bentley Lumber company. Hundreds of designs of all types and sizes of homes make your selection of a proper floor plan and an attractive exterior easy.

"Now is the time to make the new start on the new home you have wanted so long—before the rush of fall builders, before the rush of tourists for homes the coming fall. Eliminate guesswork. Come in today and learn about our modern building service," concludes Mr. Gillin.

British Government Spurs Airplane Races

[By Associated Press]

LONDON, June 26.—With a view to encouraging the entry of British racing aircraft in international air races, the air council has undertaken hereafter to purchase, up to 3,000 pounds, the winning aircraft, minus engine, in the forthcoming aerial "Derby" and the "Schneider Cup" races, provided that in each case the aircraft is British designed, built and owned, and not of a type which has previously won either race.

The trouble with swatting flies is that the flies won't show any spirit of cooperation.

THE REWARD OF THE CHRISTIAN IS PREACHED

A Christian's labor and reward in the Lord's vineyard, was the theme of the mornng sermon delivered by the Rev. Henry O. Kringel of the Concordia Lutheran congregation.

The speaker said in part:

"The most important and most precious teaching of the Bible is the teaching of justification by grace, namely, that we are justified and saved not through our own good works and righteousness, but by God's free grace and mercy, through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. Most beautifully does St. Paul set forth this teaching when he says in his letter to the congregation at Ephesus, 'By grace are you saved through faith; and not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast.'

"But some men say, 'if all things are by grace, what is the use of watching, praying, searching the scriptures and the like? If by grace alone we are saved, what is the use of crucifying the flesh, and toiling and laboring for God's kingdom?'

"All such thoughts are most vigorously denounced by the parable of our gospel, Matthew 20, 1-16.

"Here the whole world is pictured as a market place, where the people are standing about idle and knowing not what to do; while the kingdom of heaven is pictured as a vineyard, where all are kept busy. Some enter the vineyard early in the day, others come later. All day long they come into the vineyard, some even in the very last hour. But from the moment they enter the vineyard they work. They are engaged for the very purpose to labor in the vineyard. Now what does this teach us? It teaches us that in the Lord's vineyard there is no idleness, but restless activity. He that is still standing idle and doing nothing in a spiritual way; he that does not seek God's kingdom and His righteousness; he that does not run for the prize and fight for the incorruptible crown—he is not in the Lord's vineyard, not in God's kingdom, not a true Christian; he is still standing idle in the market place of the world.

"As soon as you enter the Lord's vineyard, my friend, you will toil and labor for your Lord and Master, and faithfully do your share of the work which He assigns to you. And what will you work for? Not to gain heaven by the labor of your hands.

"Christ has already gained heaven for all sinners by His merits, by His innocent suffering and death: and as soon as you enter His vineyard, the forgiveness of sins, life, and salvation are freely presented to you through faith. You will labor for the Lord prompted by gratitude. You will feel as though you could not do enough for Him, since He has done as much for you, forgiving you all your sins, healing all your diseases, delivering your life from destruction, and crowning you with loving kindness and tender mercies. It will be a pleasure for you to toil and labor in God's kingdom. Your faith, if true and sincere, cannot but produce good work.

"'And your labor shall not be without reward.' Speaking of the reward, we must bear two things in mind. First, that we merit absolutely nothing by our labor in the Lords vineyard' and second, that nevertheless every laborer shall receive his reward.

"God has promised believing Christians that they should be abundantly rewarded for all the labor they perform in the vineyard. His grace is so bountiful that He gives us eternal life for the sake of His beloved Son. 'For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him, shall not perish, but have everlasting life.'"

BROOKS POINTS TO THE WAY OF THE CHRISTIAN

The subject of Philip the Evangelist, was taken up by Keith L. Brooks in his regular lecture to the Presbyterian brotherhood at the city council rooms on Sunday morning. The study was based on the eighth chapter of Acts.

One day Jesus returned from Judea to Galilee and passed through Samaria, where at Jacob's well He led a poor sinful woman to the fountain of living waters. Several years have now passed since that event and wonderful things have taken place in Jerusalem. The Savior is crucified, risen and exalted. The Holy Spirit has been poured out upon believers. A tempest of persecution has been on against Christians and the disciples of Christ have been scattered that the name of Jesus might fill the earth with its fragrance. Philip, one of the first deacons, is at this point led of God to go into Samaria, and so, following the order of Jesus' great commission, the work of saving men in the regions beyond Jerusalem and Judea is begun. Philip's position as the pioneer evangelist has not been appreciated.

Philip was impressed to take a lonely journey out upon a desert road from Jerusalem. At first it seemed like a useless journey, yet he could not escape the impulse, and we are given a wonderful picture of how the Spirit of God sets things in motion to have the soul of a single individual. God opens the door of opportunity in very unlikely places. Philip might well wonder why he should be taken away from a successful work in a populous city and impressed to go on a lonely road, but sometimes obedience to the leadings of God is fraught with tremendous consequences. One day a Christian worker went into a restaurant and felt impressed to speak to the waiter about his salvation. He put the matter off, thinking that the waiter would be back later, but before his meal was over another waiter appeared to take the place of the first one and brought the news that the first waiter had just gone to his room and shot himself. How important it is that we should yield prompt obedience, especially to those impulses to present Christ to others.

Philip did not consult his own pleasure or circumstances but immediately followed his impulse. He soon met on the road an Ethiopian of great authority under the queen of the Ethiopians, a man who had charge of all the queen's treasure. He was just returning from Jerusalem where he had been seeking to learn something of God and find heart rest, but in the splendid sanctuary at Jerusalem he had found no peace. As he is returning home he carries in his hand a book that he had obtained there. It is the Old Testament, and as he rides in his chariot he is reading it. The grace of God is pursuing him and has sent a man after him who can open that book to him. Philip is impressed to go near and join himself to this man. This is the first step in winning any man to Christ. We must get next to him. Philip heard him reading from the Prophet Isaiah. The intersection of these two just at this moment, when the man was open to the truth and was reading, of all places in the Scripture, the 53rd chapter of Isaiah, clearly reveals the unseen Hand. Tactfully Philip found an opening to expound this Scripture for the eunuch expressed his desire that someone should help him to understand it. It is refreshing to see a person of such standing who is willing to learn the ways of God from anyone, even from a child. How ignorant even cultured people are many times in the things which concern salvation.

In the verses which the eunuch was reading, Christ is clearly set forth as an offering for the offences of all who receive Him, and raised from the dead for the justification of those who believe. There is no solid peace for any man until he sees Jesus Christ as the Lamb of God led to the slaughter as his substitute. No better text for a theme could Philip have desired. Immediately the man's eyes were opened to the truth and he gave a short but very comprehensive confession of his faith: "I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God," and then, desiring to be baptized, he went down into the waters with Philip.

We shall all learn in the hereafter what a vast amount of labor and prayer and what a multitude of influences have been required to bring us to salvation—the calls of the Spirit, of God, the Word of God, the providences of God, and perhaps many human pleaders and teachers. Perhaps the strongest love of a friend is that which impels him to speak to another concerning Jesus Christ. Let us begin praying for others, seeking God's leading and obeying His promptings. We then, like Philip, shall see others going on their way rejoicing, and shall get for ourselves the greatest blessing possible to any Christian on earth—the joy of the soul winner.

"Pardon me, madam," said the insurance agent, "but what is your age?"

"I've seen twenty-three summers," replied Miss Antique, cordially.

"Yes, of course," returned the insurance agent, "but how many times have you seen them?"

WISDOM AND ITS ATTRIBUTES IS EDMONDS' TOPIC

At the Glendale Presbyterian church Sunday morning the pastor, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, preached a special sermon dedicated to graduates, students, teachers and friends of educational institutions. The sermon topic was "The Spirit of Wisdom, Power, Success," and the texts were found in 2 Tim. 1:7 and Neh. 9:20. In developing the subject, he said that we find great profit in tracing revelation of the Divine Spirit in the Old Testament as the spirit of Wisdom and guidance. Wisdom as set forth in the scriptures is the only basis of all true education and that such education spells power and always results in success.

Wisdom, power and success are finely illustrated in the life of Joseph. Perhaps never a life touched more closely the common life of suffering humanity. He was separated from home and friends, in captivity, disgraced, yet true to God he rises from prison to princedom. It was not a triumph of human character but of Divine direction. It was the power of God's Holy Spirit in the practical affairs of human life. Young men and women looking out into the future and wanting to know the secret of highest success, put your faith in the same Holy Spirit that led Joseph up from obscurity to great power and success. The Holy Spirit is willing to be your guide and teacher and wisdom.

We find another example of the Spirit of Wisdom in Moses. He felt the heavy responsibility as leader of a rebellious people and complained to God that he was not able to bear it. It is a serious thing to tell God that that which is for His glory cannot be done. The Lord came down in a cloud and took of the Spirit that was upon Moses and gave it to the seventy elders and when the Spirit rested upon them they prophesied. No additional power was received. Instead of one having the power, seventy-one have the same power distributed among them. The Spirit of God can carry on His work by few or many. There is nothing here to suggest that one man do all the work. It is rather a call for the Wisdom of the Holy Spirit. He will guide. It is for us to know the mind of the Spirit.

The next example of Divine enduement is found in the life of Joshua. The Lord said unto Moses, "Take unto thee Joshua, the son of Nun, a man in whom the Spirit is and lay thine hand upon him." Joshua was full of the Holy Spirit. This is the secret of his wonderful life as a military leader. He was sent to fight against the mightiest nations of antiquity and before this Spirit filled man no less than thirty-one powerful sovereigns were brought into subjection.

One other example of the practical gifts of the Holy Spirit is in some respects the most remarkable and encouraging of all. Bezaleel and Aholiab, mechanics and artisans, were called to prepare skilled work for the erection of the tabernacle. God not only called them but filled them with the Holy Spirit of Wisdom and all manner of cunning workmanship. Their work which was of the highest and most artistic type was not the result of education but of direct Divine inspiration. These men had come from the brick fields of Egypt and had no culture, yet God endowed them to devise and execute the most elaborate and ornamental designs for the most perfect and beautiful edifice ever constructed by the hand of man.

The Divine presence is not only for the pulpit and prayer meeting, but just as available for the factory, workshop, school room and kitchen. This same Holy Spirit, the present day comforter, is the believer's birthright. Every regenerate man is indwelt by this same Holy Spirit. He is the great revealer and interpreter of the will of God. My plea is for a definite recognition of His purpose and power in the life of every child of God. Honor Him. Yield to the Spirit and He will always be to you Wisdom, Power and Success.

ORDINANCE NO. 805

AN ORDINANCE OF THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF GLENDALE ESTABLISHING THE GRADE ON A PORTION OF SAN FERNANDO ROAD, WITHIN THE CITY OF GLENDALE.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF GLENDALE:

SECTION 1. That the grade of San Fernando Road from a line drawn at right angles to the northeasterly line of San Fernando Road from a point therein seventeen (17) feet southeasterly and measured along said northeasterly line from the southerly line of Colorado Street to a line drawn at right angles to the northeasterly line of San Fernando Road from a point therein nineteen and fifty-six hundredths (19.56) feet northwesterly and measured along said northeasterly grade line and its southeasterly extension from its intersection with the westerly extension of the southerly line of Lot 19, Block W, Glendale Valley View Tract, as per map recorded in Book 9, page 157, of Maps, Records of Los Angeles County, California, is hereby established in accordance with the following elevations:

Along the northeasterly grade line of San Fernando Road the grade shall be as follows:

At its intersection with a line drawn at right angles to the northeasterly line of San Fernando Road from a point therein seventeen (17) feet southeasterly and measured along said northeasterly line from the southerly line of Colorado Street 463.05

At its intersection with a line drawn at right angles to the northeasterly line of San Fernando Road from a point therein nineteen and fifty-six hundredths (19.56) feet northwesterly and measured along said northeasterly line and its southeasterly extension from its intersection with the westerly extension of the southerly line of Lot 19, said Block W 464.07

Along the southwesterly grade line of San Fernando Road the grade shall be as follows:

At its intersection with a line drawn at right angles to the northeasterly line of San Fernando Road from a point therein seventeen (17) feet southeasterly and measured along said northeasterly line from the southerly line of Colorado Street 463.00

At its intersection with a line drawn at right angles to the northeasterly line of San Fernando Road from a point therein nineteen and fifty-six hundredths (19.56) feet northwesterly and measured along said northeasterly line and its southeasterly extension from its intersection with the westerly extension of the southerly line of Lot 9, said Block W 463.60

The northeasterly grade line above mentioned is fifty (50) feet northeasterly from and parallel to the southwesterly line of San Fernando Road, and the southwesterly grade line above mentioned is one (1) foot northeasterly from and parallel to said southwesterly line of San Fernando Road.

That between the above designated points of elevation the grade shall conform to a uniform grade joining said points.

Except where curbs are built on a curve at street and alley intersections or terminations, the respective curbs along said San Fernando Road shall be constructed along or parallel to the said grade line on the same side of the street, and the top of said curbs shall conform to said grades.

All elevations given in this ordinance are in feet above the City Datum Plane heretofore established.

Truths in Epigram

How lonely we are in the world! How selfish and secret of everybody! — Thackeray.

If thou faint in thy day of adversity thy strength is small. —Old Testament.

Remember there is nothing stable in human affairs; therefore avoid undue elation in prosperity, or undue depression in adversity.—Isocrates.

SWIFT JUSTICE

Former Governor Charles S. Whitman, after a careful examination of methods used in France in the conduct of criminal cases has come to the conclusion that the secret of the efficiency and swiftness of French justice lies in the fact that the system is actuated only by a desire to establish the facts in the case.

Theoretically this is the object we seek to obtain in our courts. But the conduct of criminal cases in this country is fraught with opportunities for technical objection, delay and useless procedure. Witnesses are frequently subjected to indignities and lawyers privileged to appeal to the prejudices and feelings of the jurors. Because of this our criminal courts have become subjects of discussion and, in many instances, condemnation.

That the remedy lies with the members of the bar, that it is they who must undertake to institute reform, to cast out the shyster, scheming attorney, to demand strict and swift justice to protect society and not the criminal, to make it possible to bring out the truth and not allow members of their honored profession to badger witnesses and heap insults upon those who go into court to tell the truth as they see it.

The members of the bar hold the solution in their hands, a solution based on simple justice. It is their house that should be put in order if they would have the people of this great country place the reliance in the courts that means the supremacy of popular government.

RECKLESS MOTORISTS

New York reported three dead and twenty-five injured as the result of motor accidents on Sunday, June 17.

New York is a city with a population much greater than Los Angeles, but the proportion of motors to men is probably greater in Los Angeles. At least the latter city outdid New York in casualties.

It was an unusually busy time for the coroner, the physician and the undertaker.

So much has been said about motor accidents and their prevention that the subject becomes almost trite, even with the ever increasing death roll. How to prevent drivers from taking long chances, how to stop people from recklessness, how to prevent drivers from seeking to beat a train across an intersection—these are problems that seem well nigh hopeless of solution.

Motor accidents do not result from defective machinery, defective parts, defective vision—they result from defective mentality—the mentality that, like that of the ten-year-old boy, has no thought of caution or care, and is willing to risk its own existence and that of others to gratify a desire for speed or a tendency to "show off."

We see no remedy except to take cars away from the reckless and careless and keep them away. The remedy would be drastic, but it might help.

MOB LAW

If an individual is aggrieved at another individual and makes a personal assault upon him, because of that grievance, he is a violator of the law and can be haled into court for punishment.

The law holds, and rightly so, that legal means are provided for the remedying of grievances or wrongs. If every individual were to go forth to right his own wrongs by force of fists or clubs, we should revert to the methods of savagery in short order.

What is wrong, when done by the individual, is wrong when done by a crowd of individuals, or a "mob" as we say. Indeed, it is even more reprehensible, for the individual meets another on a somewhat equal footing. The mob gives the individual no chance at all. The mob is cowardly, because it wages an unequal contest.

Many crimes are committed that arouse heat and anger. But to seek to avenge wrongs by mob violence is never defensible. It may be understandable and natural, but it is not defensible. And any one who, coolly and dispassionately seeks to defend such action is not a friend of law and order and not a friend of his state or country.

Mob violence is simply a reversion to savagery. Preachers who defend hooded "knights" when they appear in church and leave a gratuity, need to be removed from the pulpit. It has no proper place for them.

THE PRESIDENT'S TASK

Presidents belong to the people and the people are not backward about claiming possession. It may be possible that if the President on the present trip penetrates far enough into remote Alaska he may have some immunity from the clamoring of people for speeches and handshakes, but unless he gets a long distance inland, and that is hardly possible, he may not look for much in the way of rest. A presidential trip involves always programs with about all crowded into the waking hours that they will hold. And every now and then, which means every few days, there must be a kind of keynote address, carefully prepared, and setting forth the presidential views. No simple matter is this preparation of formal addresses and no unimportant matter, especially with respect to such problems as that of the world court. Naturally there is a wide difference of opinion as to how far we may participate in a world court and keep out of a league of nations. And it will take the sane leadership of the President to win over those yet unconverted. Fortunately, the President is pretty sound of mind and patience as well as of body. That will count in the fight for our participation in world affairs as the President feels we should do.

After reading the wedding announcements in a newspaper a woman always turns to the court news to see how many divorce suits have been filed.

We never saw a woman who was inclined to be bald, but we know a lot of men who are bald against their own inclination.

By looking wise and keeping his mouth shut many a man has been able to pass through life as the real thing.

It is never too late to unmend in the divorce courts.

Imagination As a Traitor

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

If "pride goeth before destruction" it is certain that imagination is the outrider to achievement. We have the authority of the specialists for it.

Estelle Lawton Lindsey

An untamed imagination is the proud boast of an army of failures and misfits; they are forever seeking somebody to help them cash in on the treasures of unharnessed day dreams. But in spite of the service which imagination can render to achievement they find themselves living idle and eventless lives.

Why? Because, for one reason, they fed their imaginations on the sawdust of desire rather than on the solid meat of fact, and an imagination that feeds on desire is about as useful as a locoed mule or a Latin politician who has imbibed too freely of mescal. It's too enthusiastic to work in practical harness and it betrays it's master with a series of emotional mirages that get him nothing but disappointment and weariness.

You can't achieve save with a solid foundation and the first test of the value of imagination is this: Can it conceive and organize a foundation on which something palpable can stand. Can it construct the framework of a play, the form of an opera, the plot of a story, the course of a novel or a substantial plan for business organization? If it takes you to the South seas, can it show you correctly what is there? Can it image for you the kind of people one finds in such outposts and such conditions as net themselves about the lives of those who live remotely among natives and half casts?

As I am writing this to help people who have imagination plus, or think they have, and are sad because it brings them no rewards, I wish to make a little clearer the point I have just touched upon.

The novels of Joseph Conrad rise to mind as the best possible illustration. Let any ambitious young imaginer read "Lord Jim," "An Outcast of the Islands," "Victory" or "Nostromo," and when he has read them let him jot down on a bit of paper the characters and then set to work to realize the ground work of solid fact on which Conrad has set his imagination to play. And then if he wants to write a story and lay it, say in central China, let him set to work to find out what kind of people are in central China and why they are there, what are their surroundings, their opportunities and their temptations. If he can't do this with his imagination, aided by a collection of reference books and atlases, he has not imagination enough to set forth on the road to achievement. He merely has a desire-fed imagination which will soon or late betray him.

Imagination is a necessary part of the equipment of every man or woman who intends to do anything in the world, but an imagination is worthless if it presents to you things that do not exist and which, with proper manipulation and labor can not be made to exist. Such an imagination instead of being a servant is a betrayer. The prodigal son was merely a victim of imagination. He left his father's house to do something which desire drove him to wish to do, but there was no foundation for his dream in his own potentialities and so he came to the husks.

Kings have lost their thrones and their heads because they fed their imaginations on the desires of their own souls rather than the solid facts that spoke all about them through the restlessness and discontent of the subjects. Charles I of England, Louis XVI of France, Nicholas II of Russia and William Hohenzollern of Germany were each betrayed by imaginations which led them toward a mirage and so they died—all but the last, and he had better have died.

And the burden of this song is this: learn the quality of your imagination before you lean on it and, having learned that, give it the right food. Otherwise it will surely betray you.

THE RIGHT WORD

By W. CURTIS NICHOLSON

"LIE" AND "LAY"

(Find the error in this article)

A brief discussion of lie and lay will always bear repetition.

When speaking of reclining, always use the word lie. . . You should say, "I lie down" or "I am lying down." Never say "I am laying down."

When you are speaking of reclining the day before or a short period of time previously, you should say "I lay down yesterday afternoon," not "I laid down yesterday afternoon."

So one should say "I shall lie (not lay) down later in the day;" "I want to lie (not lay) down."

With the words have and had one should use the word lain, not laid; as, I have lain down; he had lain down; you will have lain down.

The above discussion is on the word lie meaning recline. Read it thoroughly and apply the principles and you will have little difficulty with the phase of speech in the future.

Yesterday's Error

Wrong: Only use "don't" with the following words . . .

Right: Use "don't" only with the following words . . .

Vocabulary

Pellucid is pronounced pe lu' sid (e as in get; i as in hit; u as in rule; i as in habit). The word means permitting to a certain extent the passage of light; translucent; limpid.

Queries

M. M. Valledor: "Is the following sentence correct: 'Do you know where all the mills is? I was asked the foregoing question at the place where I work and the person insisted that it is correct to say are.'"

Answer: The right word is are.

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

JAMES W. FOLEY

After all, the spirit of labor, of achievement, of advancement, of conquest, of success, is in yourself.

It cannot be put in from the outside.

It cannot be injected, as with a hypodermic needle.

It cannot be brought to you.

It is already there.

* * *

Education cannot create it.

Education creates nothing.

Education merely brings out what is already there.

Everything needful is within you.

If it can be aroused or awakened or brought into action.

* * *

Preachment cannot create what does not already exist.

Inspiration cannot reach what is not there.

All of the sun and rain will fail in bringing the flowers if there is no seed in the soil.

Seedless soil remains endlessly barren.

But within us all lie the seeds of achievement.

Of labor and happiness and victory.

Waiting often the sun and shower of warmth and inspiration.

Waiting for the light.

Yourself for example.

Of what things you are capable.

You may not know.

Only when the spirit of man is really awakened does he know of what things he is capable.

And yet the spirit was there all the time.

The seed in the soil.

Dormant.

Asleep.

* * *

The dormant spirit lies sluggish and without purpose.

Willing only to exist.

To breathe and eat and sleep.

And yet within that dormant spirit may be all the might of the conqueror.

* * *

There is the log by the grate.

Cold, without warmth or beauty.

Splintered and knotted and serving no purpose.

Until it is alight in the fire.

In the log was all the time the spark and crackle.

The coal and the warmth and light.

Needing only to be awakened.

To be set afire.

* * *

So with you and with me.

So with us all.

The spirits in us needing to be awakened.

To be set afire.

To be lighted with enthusiasm.

To be glorified with purpose.

Dignified with labor.

That is after all the real purpose of education.

To awaken your spirit to the light and color and beauty of living.

To enable you to share.

To bring sun and shower upon the seed lying dormant in the soil and make it flower.

Songs of the Poets

Song (from "Abdelazer")—Aphra Behn

Love in fantastic triumph sate
Whilst bleeding hearts around him flowed,
For whom fresh pains he did create
And strange tyrannic power he showed;
From the bright eyes he took his fires,
Which round about in sport he hurled;
But 'twas from mine he took desires
Enough t' undo the amorous world.

From me he took his sighs and tears;
From thee his pride and cruelty;
From me his languishments and fears,
And every killing dart from thee.
Thus thou and I the good have armed
And set him up a deity;
But my poor heart alone is harmed,
Whilst thine the victor is, and free!

THE PRESSURE OF THE JUNGLE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

DURING the closing days of last winter an item appeared in the press stating that wolves had been seen on the Berkshire Hills for the first time in a generation.

Mr. Cortland F. Bishop saw a pair of them stalking a deer while he was on the way to New York from his estate in Lennox, and a few days later Ike Whitbeck, rattlesnake hunter, saw them near Bash Bish Falls in Mount Washington.

Mr. Bishop attributed the wolf invasion of the Berkshires to the severe winter in Canada and to the large increase of deer in Western Massachusetts.

This reminds us of the fact that the jungle still exists all around us.

Civilization and the ordered life of man is yet but an island in the great sea of savage nature.

Have you ever tried to imagaine what would happen, for instance, in New York City if some day all the human beings should disappear, all perhaps but yourself?

The first day or two you could roam at will through the stores, the banks, the palaces and the tenements. You could eat and drink your fill, play on the grand pianos and sleep in silken couches.

Then in the course of a few days you would begin to notice spider webs. Rats and mice would become more numerous. Gradually the insect and vermin world would begin to move in.

Some evening a little later you would hear the howl of a wolf and perhaps you might see a bear slinking down Broadway.

The carrion crows and other birds would begin to collect. Little by little the other denizens of the forest and the little creatures that now live shyly in dark holes in waste places would find courage to enter the empty city.

And it would not be long before life would be unsafe for you in the streets because the jungle people had entered and taken possession.

The communal life of man is an unending struggle against the other forms of life produced by the fecund earth.

And all this is but a picture of what is taking place in the individual life.

For a man's body exists only as the life force in him struggles against other organisms that seek to destroy him.

Human life, in fact, is a continuous and unending battle with microbes, germs, insects and vermin.

All that humanity would have to do would be to quit struggling and it would soon be eliminated.

And all that the human being, whether we consider his body or his soul, has to do is to quit work and do nothing and the jungle moves in and he is devoured.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

THE LEVIATHAN JUNKET

[New York World]

If the Leviathan needs a trial trip, which is more than doubtful, why not fill her cabins with disabled but convalescent service men from the government hospitals?

This question is not original with the World. It comes from various readers, and it is so appropriate that we take pleasure in submitting it to the President of the United States. Mr. Lasker would never understand, but Mr. Harding might.

The Leviathan was the outstanding American troop-ship in the world war. It is the symbol of the nation's vast achievement in transporting 2,000,000 troops to France and turning the balance that decided the issue of the most stupendous of all conflicts. Reconditioned after an expenditure of millions and preparing to resume her place among the great transatlantic liners, it would have been no more than fitting that in resuming her peace-time status, but under the American flag, she had paid a slight tribute of respect to the khaki-clad men that she took to France and brought home from France, thousands of whom will remain cripples and invalids during the rest of their lives.

Instead of doing this, Mr. Lasker in the name of the shipping board has planned the most colossal junket ever undertaken at public expense. The invitation list is Mr. Lasker's list. It is made up of officeholders, politicians, editors and writers, all of whom are supposed to have a special advertising value for the purposes that Mr. Lasker has in mind, and his main purpose, is always Mr. Lasker. Even Mrs. Harding, who indiscreetly asked some of her friends to go on the trip, was obliged to recall the invitations when she found that her plans did not coincide with the Lasker plans.

To all effect the Leviathan junket is a private affair for the glorification of Mr. Lasker, to be paid for by the American taxpayer who has no part in it.

THE 12-HOUR DAY ERROR

[Chicago Tribune]

E. H. Gary, chairman of the U. S. Steel corporation, announces that the twelve-hour day must continue in the steel industry. The chief reason offered is that there is a labor shortage, and substitution of the eight-hour day would require 60,000 more employes and add 15 per cent to the cost of production.

Economically, that argument may appear flawless. But Mr. Gary fails to limit himself to it. He adds explanation and apology, thereby recognizing a moral and social issue, and laying himself open to attack.

If the labor shortage is the primary reason at present for continuing the twelve-hour day, those who cite it must admit there was no such reason for its continuance in 1921, when there was no labor shortage. But it was continued then. That is sufficient evidence that the industry desired its continuance. Maintenance of the twelve-hour day in the face of these contrary conditions reveals the weakness of the industry's moral defense.

The industry is merely looking for excuses. For instance, extending his moral defense, Mr. Gary says: "Whether or not in the large majority of cases twelve-hour-a-day men devote less time to their families than the employes working less hours is questionable." In other words, the man who works eight hours and leaves at 5 p. m. may not be expected home any earlier or in any better mood to associate with his family than the one who works twelve hours and leaves at 8 in the evening. It is too absurd for comment.

Yet it is invariably into such absurdities that attempts at moral defense of the twelve-hour day leads its apologists. The twelve-hour day is a social liability upon the communities in which it is operative. Its sponsors cannot escape responsibility for that. For that reason Mr. Gary's report cannot be final. The demands of public welfare eventually will force its elimination.

CHATS ON SCIENCE

DR. EDWIN E. SLOSSON

Motion Picture of Atomic Collisions

Staging a collision between locomotives is an old movie stunt, but Professor W. D. Harkins of the University of Chicago has gone to the opposite extreme in setting up a camera that will take pictures of the tracks of the atoms through space and their occasional collisions.

Since the atomic particle to be photographed is only about a million millionth of an inch in size and is moving at a speed of ten thousand miles a second, taking its picture is more of a feat than filming a slow-coach locomotive that may be making a mere 60 miles an hour. To work out a way to do it required an alliance of Anglo-Saxon and Japanese brains, the "Wilson-Shimizu apparatus," it is called. In this ingenious contrivance advantage is taken of the fact that when moist air is cooled suddenly the water is precipitated from the air in the form of dewdrops that deposit upon the walls of the vessel or upon any electrified particles, such as dust, that may be floating in the air.

Now the smallest of all possible electrical particles is that known as the electron, which is so minute that it would take 1840 of them to weigh as much as the smallest atom, the atom of hydrogen. These electrons are more or less loosely attached to the atoms of all kinds of matter, so loosely in fact that you can rub some of them off of a piece of glass with your handkerchief as is shown by the fact that you have "electrified" the glass.

We can get free electrons from air by knocking them off the atoms of nitrogen by bombarding them with what are known as "alpha particles." The alpha particles are the fragments of helium atoms thrown off when the metal radium decomposes. They carry a double charge of positive electricity and projected from the exploding radium atom at a speed some 20,000 times as fast as a rifle bullet. Their momentum is so great that they plunge right through the atoms they encounter and may travel several inches through the air before they are slowed down, leaving behind a trail of some 200,000 fragments of nitrogen atoms. These fragments, being electrified may each form the center of a minute dewdrop. If now a bright light be thrown on the screen from the side, the track of the alpha particle will be seen as a shining line of illuminated drops, and may be photographed.

But once in a while the flying alpha will do more damage to an atom than carry off one of its outer electrons. It may chance to hit an atom in its central nucleus, where most of its mass is concentrated, and so smash it to pieces. Now the nucleus of a nitrogen atom is made up of hydrogen and helium and either of these may be dislodged. In Professor Harkins' snapshots we can see the result of such a collision. The alpha particle has bumped up against the nucleus of a nitrogen atom and bounded back, while the dislodged fragment of the nucleus is projected forward, so the track appears to fork.

If a comet driving through our solar system should carry off Neptune or Uranus nobody but the astronomers would miss it, but if the comet should hit the nucleus of our solar system and knock the sun to pieces we would all know it—or more likely we would not know anything. So in these atomic movies we are witnessing the death of an atom, the destruction of an element. Or to view the affair in a more optimistic light, we behold the formation of new atoms from old ones. So the camera is now showing us something that was formerly not only invisible but thought to be impossible.

A CAKE OF SOAP

"There I found something today," announced mother with keen satisfaction in her voice. "Now Todd will wash himself."

"Then you found a miracle," said father laying down his paper. "Disclose it to us."

"It's a cake of soap," said mother searching in her hand bag.

"Woman, you're bereft. Todd interested in a cake of soap? I'll continue with the advertisements."

"But this cake of soap is different. Look."

"It's pretty enough. Bess may like it but Todd—Why?"

"Don't you see it has the picture of a little boy and girl falling down hill on it? All lined in bright red on a white ground. He'll want to wash with that soap."

"I don't believe it! Besides the picture will come off first thing."

Mother gathered up her things and went off. She put the cake of soap with its attractive picture in full sight on the wash stand Todd should have it that night, she determined. He would love that picture and enjoy washing his hands just to see it grow brighter and brighter.

That night she introduced Todd to it. "Yes," said he. "It's pretty. Never saw a picture on soap before."

"That's your very own cake of soap. It can't get mixed up with sister's. It's just for you. You'll love to see the picture every time you wash your hands."

"Yes," said Todd. "Did you bring me anything, mother? Anything good, I mean?"

"What luck?" asked father afterward. "Did he fall for the soap?"

"He liked it," said mother hopefully. "It's a little too soon to know yet."

The next day Todd used the soap in the morning and had to be reminded to wash his hands at luncheon time when he dipped them and left his mark on the towel as always. Mother's faith in the soap's drawing power began to waver.

That night there came the sound of battle from the bathroom. "Ma, Bess has my cake of soap! She says she's going to wash with it."

"He doesn't use it. Why can't I have it? Mine hasn't a picture on it or anything. Just plain white. His has a picture and smells good!"

"No," said mother. "That's Todd's soap and of course he will use it. He is to have the pictured soap so he can tell it from the others. Let him have his own soap."

"There," said Todd placing his gaily decorated cake on his shelf, "that's my soap and of course I'm going to use it."

"He does use it," said mother later in the week. "I believe he is learning to wash himself. He seems to like that cake of soap."

"Maybe," said father. "At least he doesn't fight it and that's clear gain. Besides, it is pretty and why shouldn't a child's soap be pretty? Isn't there another picture cake for sister?"

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

The longer I know Cherry Sinnot the higher I lift my hat when I meet her. She has more sense than a fox. Along with it she is pretty, dresses like the Rue de la Paix, sings like a lark, and dances like feathers in a wind.

"Cherry's got a job," laughed Jimmie, who is her happy husband. "Works at it, too. Having the time of her life."

You will note that Jimmie did not try to get in Cherry's industrious way. He did not interfere with her, laugh at her, or otherwise discourage her. He helped her play her hand when he was asked, and when he was not he kept his mitten out. That's the way a husband should treat his wife.

Cherry was one of a group of young, good looking, idle, bright young married women. They played bridge, they danced, they went to matinees, and generally behaved themselves like members of the idle rich. Eventually there were too many scandals in that group. Cherry thought it out.

"It's absolutely ruinous to have nothing to do," said she to Jimmie. "These girls were all right at heart. I know every one of them well. But they have had nothing to do except amuse themselves. That palls on one after a while. One feels the need for something a bit more serious, and, being lazy through the training given by an indulgent husband, one does not work. Instead, one flirts."

So Cherry found work to do. She tried having a fad and found that was not at all amusing after the first varnish had cracked. So she undertook to do something worth while for her town. The comfort was that if she failed only her time would have been lost. If she won the whole community would be better. She worked just as though she were being paid for it. She won, the town is better off—

And the Sinnots are the happiest married folk I know.

NOTHING CAN STOP THE PROGRESS OF A CITY WITH HOME-OWNING CITIZENS

Home building for the average family opens up many avenues for money saving which ordinarily would not be called into use

Some people have led themselves into erroneously believing that renting is cheaper than building. While we know that circumstances prevent many people from ever owning a home, it is folly for one who has the opportunity not to take advantage of it.

Renting is not economy—in the end what have you? Only rent receipts, and you still lack a roof over your family's head.

Many people never own a home because they say they cannot pay cash for it. Still you pay rent every month. Build a home and pay it out monthly. You'll be paying rent to yourself. Build a home and see how quickly the whole family become interested in it, how they will begin to save and practice economy. They will want to cooperate, do their share in helping to pay off the mortgage that the home be free and clear, all your very own at the earliest possible time.

Pride of ownership, satisfaction of accomplishment, offset sacrifices you and your family will make in acquiring a home. We know if you give Home Ownership the consideration it deserves, your decision will be,—BUILD NOW.

MRS. FITZPATRICK ILLUSTRATES HER SHUT-IN WORK

Instructor Finds Interesting Things Among Disabled Children

A short time ago the Glendale Press told its readers something about the work of Mrs. Fitzpatrick, the home instructor, employed by the board of education to teach children who are disabled and prevented from attendance at school, either temporarily or permanently.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick has become very much interested in her pupils and finds that nearly all of them have special talents or leanings toward some line of work. To prove her point she has brought to the Press some of the stories and articles written by these shut-ins which this paper is glad to publish to show how closely these children are in touch with the rest of the world, in spite of their disabilities. The series will begin with an article by Miller Annis on how to manufacture a single circuit radio set. In later issues some of the stories and poems which have been submitted to Mrs. Fitzpatrick will be published.

HOW TO MAKE A SINGLE CIRCUIT RADIO SET

The set below described, although not as efficient as vacuum tube sets, will bring in signals for about a 25-mile radius. The signals are not loud enough to work a loud speaker unless amplification is employed.

It can be made at a moderate cost and requires no battery to operate.

The tuner consists of a round cardboard box, four inches in diameter and six inches long, wound with No. 22 cotton covered copper magnet wire, tapped every ten turns.

First, take the cardboard box and saw two round pieces of one-half inch hardwood to fit just inside the box. Next, saw out two pieces of one-half inch hardwood six inches square. Screw a round piece in the center of the square pieces, then slip the end of the cardboard box on the round pieces and tack through the cardboard into the round pieces. Slip the other end on the other round block and turn so that the two square pieces will rest on a table squarely without rocking; then tack it in place.

Next, start winding the wire on the cardboard tube, taking taps every ten turns. A good way to do this is to put nine turns on the tube, then lay a splinter of wood about one-fourth inch wide along the coil and take the tenth turn over the splinter. Then the ninth under and the tenth over, until the tube is filled. Then scrape the insulation off where it crosses the splinter and solder a lead to it.

Cut a top, bottom and sides of one-fourth inch hardwood.

Buy some taps and a tap switch at a radio supply store and arrange the taps in a semi-circle on the front of the cabinet with the tap switch in the center so it will just reach the taps. Take the taps beginning at one end of the coil; take the lead from the end tap to the first tap, the next to the next, on to the end.

Buy four binding posts at a radio store and mount them on the front of the cabinet. Connect one to the end of the coil and the other to the tap switch. Take the aerial lead to one and the ground lead to the other. The best ground connection is made by connecting to a water or gas pipe or a ground can be made by burying a sheet or rod of metal and connecting to it.

The next thing to consider is the detector, which is of the crystal type. It should not be imagined that the crystal detector is obsolete; it will give good service for short distances and requires no battery to operate. A good crystal detector can be procured at a radio store for about $1.50 and is much neater than could be made. Also buy a crystal to go with it. Galena is recognized as the best, although some operators prefer others.

Next take a lead from the aerial binding post and connect it to the cat whisker of the detector, then from the mineral cup of the detector to one binding post for the head set. From the other head set binding post take a wire and connect it to the ground binding post to the telephone binding post. A head set will be needed. A pair can be bought that will answer very nicely for about $5. Connect these to the binding post for the head set.

To operate this set, move the tap switch to the first tap and move the cat whisker across the mineral lightly and if no signals are heard, put the tap switch to the second tap, to the third and on until signals are heard.

Care should be taken to make good connections and all the connections soldered if possible.

MILLER ANNIS.

Foley's Friendly Fancies

JAMES W. FOLEY

WILLIE

Willie did some little chores,
He swept the shed and scrubbed the floors,
And carried in some kindling wood,
And did the chores as quite he should.
He worked perhaps an hour or two
And when the chores he did were through
He was exhausted—quite worn out,
Just dragged his little self about.

Willie on a Saturday
Went him forth to romp and play,
He walked two miles or three or four,
And whistled, sang and whistled more.
He took an axe and cleared a space
To make the boys a camping place,
And carried logs and sticks and stones
And not an ache in all his bones.

And all day long he toiled with vim,
For it was only play with him;
He washed the dishes, cleaned the tent,
And many a hasty trip he went
To brook and spring; he set him snares
For timid birds and fleeting hares,
And when he saw the twilight fall
He was not tired—no, not at all.

Now Willie's work in raking yard
And doing chores was not as hard
As Willie's play, and yet 'twas such
It tired him many times as much.
In doing chores he's all worn out,
But in his play he skips about
With all the vigor that is his—
I wonder now just why that is.

INSULIN SPURS M. D.'s FORWARD

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., June 26.—William Englebach, president of the Association for the Study of Internal Secretions and clinical professor of medicine of St. Louis university, told delegates to the American Medical association convention here today that the recent isolation of insulin in the treatment of diabetes has been "an impetus to men who are particularly interested in this fascinating field of medicine." Dr. Englebach said:

"Many of the active principles of other ductless glands which have so much to do with the growth and development, both physical and mental, of the human body, such as adrenalin, pituitrin, thyroxin, etc., have placed the disorders of these glands beyond the stage of theory and hypothesis."

Dr. Englebach gave a clinic at the Franklin hospital at which he demonstrated various types of ductless gland disorders.

HISTORY OF ICE CREAM IS TOLD BY CRESCENT

200,000,000 Gallons Are Consumed in the United States

H. O. Foell, manager of the Crescent Creamery company at Glendale has given a very comprehensive outline of the early history of ice cream manufacture, and its development to the present time.

Mr. Foell states that about five centuries ago an old Italian dairyman accidentally stumbled upon the idea of freezing liquids by using ice. He was carrying a bucket full of warm goat's milk up into the Alps mountains and set it down in the snow while he rested. He had a large wooden spoon along and stirred the milk just to see what would happen. It froze at the sides of the bucket. He didn't know what to think about this, but ate the frozen substance; he like it immensely and told his friends about the straneg phenomenon—thus ice cream making came into existence.

Later a French chef experimented with several frozen desserts and finally served a highly delectable dish of the frozen variety. As a reward for his handiwork he was pensioned for life.

Then Marco Polo came along and was accused by his countrymen of passing on the idea of ice cream making to the Japanese.

In the early periods of American history, Alexander Hamilton invited Mr. and Mrs. George Washington to a banquet in the White House and served them ice cream for dessert. Mr. and Mrs. Washington were tremendously pleased it is stated.

In 1786 the New York Post published the first ice cream advertisement. From that time until the present ice cream has grown in popularity and today it is recognized everywhere.

Mr. Foell gave some enlightening figures when he stated that in the United States alone for 1922, 200,000,000 gallons of ice cream were consumed.

The Crescent Creamery company has just moved to its new plant on Harvard and San Fernando road and has already established seven milk routes and serves some of the largest dealers in Glendale with ice cream.

Mr. Foell was somewhat reticent about giving the historical information about ice cream since he said that he did not wish to become known as a historian.

LOCUSTS HAVE FINE PEDIGREE

[By Associated Press]

HARRISBURG, June 26. — A brood of 17-year locusts—in the words of the scientists, Brood No. 14 of the periodical cicada—the brood which has appeared at regular intervals in this country since 1634 when the Pilgrims discovered the insects in Massachusetts, is making its appearance in Pennsylvania this spring.

They are present already in four counties, and are expected in 19 more.
